The Universe Is You

The cover photograph depicts the National Research Council's stainless steel sphere, designed by Canadian Artist Art Price. Mounted in a pool of water, the sphere scatters the beams of light which strike it symbolizing the contribution of science to mankind.

Inspiration for the work came from an inscription carved above the front door of NRC's Sussex Drive building and taken from the first and the second book of Esdras in the Apocrypha: "Great is truth and mighty above all things; it endureth and is always strong; it liveth and conquereth for evermore. The more thou searchest, the more thou shalt marvel."

Vous êtes l'Univers

La photographie de la page couverture illustre une sphère en acier inoxydable conçue par un artiste canadien Art Price, pour le Conseil national de recherches. Placée au centre d'un bassin circulaire, elle diffuse la lumière aux quatre points cardinaux et symbolise ainsi la diffusion des connaissances scientifiques de par le monde.

Cette sculpture a été inspirée par l'inscription gravée au-dessus de l'entrée principale des laboratoires du CNRC, sur la promenade Sussex, et qui a été tirée des livres apocryphes d'Esdras: « La vérité surpasse tout en grandeur et en puissance: elle dure et reste toujours forte, elle vit et conquiert toujours davantage. Plus tu la chercheras, plus tu t'émerveilleras ».

PREFACE

SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNICAL SOCIETIES OF CANADA is compiled and published every two years by the Canada Institute for Scientific and Technical Information (CISTI) a division of the National Research Council of Canada, for the use of the scientific and information communities. The directory includes national, provincial, and regional associations devoted to a scientific, technical or medical discipline or group of disciplines. In order to qualify for listing in this publication, a society must be primarily concerned with research and development activities or with the gathering and dissemination of knowledge. Trade associations, undergraduate groups, and strictly fund-raising organizations are excluded.

Information for this 1988 edition was provided in response to a questionnaire by the officers of the societies. A few organizations which did not respond are again included because the general information is still relevant although the names of the executive officers may not be current. This edition contains 50 new entries.

We appreciate the cooperation of those who have contributed to this publication. For the next edition, CISTI is anxious to hear from any organizations which have not been included and which are eligible for listing.

Societies are numbered and listed in alphabetical order in the white pages. A keyword out of context (KWOC) index, in the blue pages, assists the user in locating societies associated with a particular subject or region. An index to societies' publications can be found in the green pages at the back of the publication.

PREFACE

L'Institut canadien de l'information scientifique et technique (ICIST), une division du Conseil national de recherches du Canada, publie à tous les deux ans le répertoire des Sociétés scientifiques et techniques du Canada à l'intention des milieux scientifiques et des spécialistes du domaine de l'information. Le répertoire regroupe des associations nationales, provinciales et régionales qui oeuvrent dans une ou plusieurs disciplines scientifiques, techniques ou médicales. Les associations qui figurent au répertoire doivent s'occuper principalement de recherche et de développement ou de saisie et de diffusion des connaissances. Les groupements corporatifs, les groupes universitaires de premier cycle et les organismes de mobilisation de fonds sont exclus.

L'information au sujet de l'édition 1988 vous a été fournie en réponse à un questionnaire des agents des sociétés. Quelques organismes qui n'ont pas retourné le questionnaire sont néanmoins répertoriés, car les renseignements d'ordre général restent pertinents même si les dirigeants ont pu changer. La présente édition recense 50 nouvelles entrées.

Nous tenons à remercier tous nos collaborateurs et nous invitons les organismes admissibles qui n'ont pas été recensés à communiquer avec l'ICIST en vue de la prochaine édition.

Dans la section des pages blanches, les sociétés sont numérotées et présentées en ordre alphabétique. L'index mot-clé hors contexte, dans la section des pages bleus, aide l'utilisateur à repérer des sociétés à partir d'une région ou d'une matière donnée. L'index des publications des sociétés se trouve à la toute fin dans la section des pages vertes.

History: Professionals in agriculture became organized in Canada for the first time in 1920, when they formed the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists. Incorporated under a charter granted by the Government of Canada in 1928, this Society operated without provincial units until 1945. At that time it was renamed as the Agricultural Institute of Canada and to achieve legal status for the profession, steps were initiated to establish Agrologist Institutes under provincial statutes as the provincial divisions of the profession. Agrologist Institutes are now established in all provinces. The provincial organization in Quebec, L'Ordre des Agronomes du Québec, functions independently of the Agricultural Institute of Canada. Within the provinces members are organized in local units known as branches. The Branches conduct activities in support of the provincial and national levels. They are the basic operating unit and source strength of the profession. Eight national scientific societies related to agriculture are also constituent organizations of the Agricultural Institute of Canada. Membership in these societies is separate from registration as an agrologist. Registration as an agrologist by a provincial agrologist institute is required for and includes membership in the Agricultural Institute of Canada.

Purpose: To establish and maintain the co-operation and coordination of all provincial professional agricultural organizations, associated with the Agricultural Institute of Canada as its provincial divisions, and all national scientific societies with objectives which pertain to the advancement of agriculture through science which are associated with the Agricultural Institute of Canada and its affiliated societies; advancing the professional and economic well being of the members; assisting in the development throughout Canada of uniform registration requirements and examination standards for the profession of agrology; providing advice respecting legislative matters common to professional agricultural bodies throughout Canada; providing a forum for the discussion of problems and developments respecting professional and scientific matters related to agriculture; promoting a knowledge and appreciation of the profession to the general public; promoting research and the application of the results of research for the betterment of agriculture; maintaining activities to foster high standards in educational institutes and programs pertaining to agriculture; to co-operate with other societies or organizations for the advancement of mutual or national voice speaking on behalf of professional and scientific agriculturists in Canada.
Membership: Approximately 5,500. Membership in the Institute may be obtained only through registration in a provincial organization recognized by the Institute except for residents of provinces without such provincial organizations and persons not resident in Canada, for whom the following shall be the requirements for membership. Junior Member: any person shall be eligible for Junior Membership who has one of the following qualifications: graduation in agriculture from a university of recognized standing with less than three years post-graduate agricultural training and/or experience (advancement from Junior Member to be automatic when these requirements are met); graduation, not in agriculture, from a university of recognized standing provided that the candidate is engaged in work of an agricultural nature but has had less than three years post-graduate agricultural training and/or experience. The candidate must satisfy the Institute that his qualifications and vocation arechiefly in the field of agriculture. Member: any person shall be eligible for membership who has one of the following qualifications: graduation in agriculture from a university of recognized standing with at least three years post-graduate training and/or experience; graduation not in agriculture, from a university of recognized standing, provided that the candidate is engaged in work of an agricultural nature and has had at least three years post-graduate training and or experience (the candidate must satisfy the Institute that his qualifications and vocation are chiefly in the field of agriculture). A Charter Member is one who joined the Institute at or before the organizing convention of 1920 and who has maintained his membership continuously since that time.
Meetings: Annual Meeting and Convention (Summer).

John E. Leech, A.Sc.T. Term indefinite. Registrar: Paul D. LaBranche, A.Sc.T. Term indefinite.

History: Incorporated under the Applied Science Technologists and Technicians Act in 1985. Originally established in 1958 as the Society of Engineering Technologists of British Columbia by technicians and technologists working in the fields of engineering and architecture. The organization developed as an association of professionals to the point where the Provincial Government granted separate professional statute. The new Association, ASTTBC, now recognizes technologists and technicians in the applied science technologies related to agriculture, architecture, building, engineering, forest resource, allied health and surveying.
Purpose: To maintain, improve and increase the knowledge, ability and competence of technologists and technicians and to regulate the standards of training and practice of and for its members and to protect the interests of the public. Professional designations granted under the Act include Applied Science Technologist (A.Sc.T.) and Certified Technician (C.Tech.). The Association also provides membership services as well as services for industry, government and the public.
Membership: 5,000. Requirements include academic qualifications either as a technologist or a technician plus a minimum of 2 years professional experience. Associate Membership as well as Student Membership is also available.
Meetings: Annual (Spring).
Professional Activities: The Association, in addition to providing professional certification and registration, is responsible for the accreditation of technology programs offered through the B.C. Institute of Technology and several community colleges. Continuing education activities include seminars offered throughout the Province, often in cooperation with community colleges and industry. Local Chapters located around the province sponsor technical seminars and meetings. ASTTBC promotes excellence in technology through a number of awards. The Advanced Technology Award is presented to those in business and industry at the leading edge of their technology. The Outstanding Technical Achievement Award is presented to an ASTTBC member who excels in his or her field. ASTTBC is a co-sponsor with the Arts, Sciences & Technology Centre of the B.C. Technology Showcase and the B.C. Science Fair.

46. ASSOCIATION BOTANIQUE DU CANADA - CANADIAN BOTANICAL ASSOCIATION.
(In English see: CANADIAN BOTANICAL ASSOCIATION)
Président: Dr. Larry Peterson, Dépt. botanique, Université de Guelph, Guelph, Ont. N1G 2W1. Le mandat se termine en août 1989. Sécretaire: Sylvia Taylor, Université Columbie-britanique, 6501 rue Marine, N.O., Vancouver, C.-B. V6T 1W5. Le mandat se termine en août 1990. Prés-Elect: Dr. Irwin Brodo.

Historique: Les débuts de l'Association remontent à 1963, alors que la Société. Royale du Canada endossait la recommandation de son Comité spécial sur le rôle des sciences végétales dans l'effort scientifique canadien, de favoriser la formation d'une société botanique canadienne. A la suite de l'action du Dr. P.R. Gorham, le Dr. R.A. Ludwig, Directeur de l'Institut de recherche sur les plantes du Ministère de l'Agriculture du Canada, organisait une rencontre de 15 botanistes pour planifier la création d'une organisation botanique qui représenterait les botanistes non affiliés aux sociétés botaniques canadiennes d'alors. En réponse aux décisions prises durant cette réunion, la Société Royal du Canada parrainait le 9 mars 1964 une rencontre de botanistes canadiens afin de discuter la formation d'une telle société. On instituait alors un comité provisoire et on prévoyait tenir une réunion nationale conjointement avec la réunion annuelle de la Société canadienne des physiologistes des plantes qui avait lieu à l'Université Queen's en juin 1964. 68 botanistes représentant 29 institutions de sept provinces étaient présents à la réunion de Kingston. On y approuvait en principe la formation d'une organisation intérimaire, l'Organisation botanique du Canada. On s'entendait aussi pour tenir une réunion de fondation tôt au printemps, à l'Université Carleton. Cette réunion avait lieu du 26 au 28 mai. On y approuvait une constitution et des règlements, on y élisait un exécutif et on décidait de nommer la société Canadian Botanical Association - Association botanique du Canada.
Objectifs: Encourager la recherche et l'enseignement de la botanique et représenter ses membres aux niveaux national et international.
Membres: 375. Les membres se composent d'individus qui sont intéressés aux aspects scientifiques de la botanique.
Réunions: Annuelle (août).
Activités professionnelles: L'Association est un membre actif du Biological Council of Canada (B.C.C.). En 1969, la CBA/ABC établissait la Médaille George Lawson en l'honneur d'un des premiers botanistes canadiens réputés. Ce prix veut "fournir une expression collective et formelle de l'admiration et du respect des botanistes canadiens pour l'excellence de la contribution d'un individu à la botanique canadienne". Les autres prix sont le Prix Mary E. Elliott pour "services méritoires rendus à l'Association botanique du Canada", le Prix Lionel Cinq-Mars pour la meilleure présentation orale par un étudiant lors du Congrès annuel de l'Association, et le Prix de Mycologie Luelle K. Weresub pour le meilleur article de mycologie publié l'année précédente par un étudiant d'une université canadienne ou par un étudiant canadien travaillant à l'étranger.

History: The Association was founded in 1977 and incorporated under federal charter in 1978. Its governing Council is made up of official representatives of the member universities, at present thirty-two. The Association was founded by Canadian universities active in northern studies training and research in order to increase the effectiveness of their contribution to knowledge and understanding of northern Canada.
Purpose: The advancement of northern scholarship through education, professional and scientific training, and research. More specifically; to represent the interests of member universities by influencing government and private sector policies and practices related to the support of northern scholarship; to establish mechanisms through which resources can be allocated to member universities and northern scholars for the purpose of increasing knowledge of the North and ensuring an appropriate number of trained and skilled northern scientists, managers, and educators; to enhance opportunities for northern people to become leaders and promoters of excellence in education and research matters important to northern society; to facilitate through conferences, seminars, research and other methods, the understanding and resolution of northern issues; to co-operate with other public, private and international agencies and organizations concerned with the advancement, application and impact of northern scholarship.
Membership: Over thirty Canadian universities active in northern research, studies and scholarship are members of ACUNS and through them, the Association represents the vast majority of Canadian scholars interested in the North. They are drawn from across the country, from both official language groups and many subject disciplines. Through ACUNS, the views of over 650 northern scholars can be canvassed and utilized. Canadian universities belong to ACUNS in recognition of its potential for assisting them in their own pursuits in northern scholarship, and in recognition of the need for concerted action on the part of all universities involved in the North.
Meetings: Annual Conference (April).
Professional activities: The Association undertakes activities which respond to the needs expressed by its member universities and others. The Council determines annually those projects which should be given priority, and the Board of Directors and Executive Director are responsible for carrying out its directions. The Association established the Canadian Northern Studies Trust which awards

Studentships to deserving students in universities across the country. The Trust also has a program of Special Awards for residents of Canada's north who wish to spend some time on a university campus. The Association sponsors symposia on topics of vital concern to northern Canada and other circumpolar nations and holds an annual conference.

Historique: L'Association nucléaire canadienne est un groupe sans but lucratif, formé en 1960, en vue de promouvoir l'utilisation de l'énergie nucléaire à des fins paisibles au Canada et à l'étranger. L'ANC n'est pas une association commerciale au sens strict du mot. Une association commerciale est généralement considérée comme un groupe de compétiteurs qui se préoccupent de promouvoir et de protéger le commerce de l'industrie dans lequel ils sont concurrents. A cause de l'extrême étendue et de la complexité des applications nucléaires, l'industrie nucléaire n'a pas une industrie unique bien définie, elle est plustôt composée de nombreux établissements industriels et entreprises, reliés entre eux par le lien de l'interêt qu'ils portent au développement et à l'application de l'énergie nucléaire à des fins paisibles. L'Association recrute ses membres parmi les fabricants, les régies d'électricité, les architectes et les ingénieurs-conseils, les entreprises de construction, les banques, les compagnies d'assurances, les compagnies de transport, les maisons d'éducation, les laboratoires de recherches, les syndicats ouvriers, et les services gouvernementaux du Fédéral et des provinces. De plus l'Association pourvoit aux besoins des individus intéressés à l'énergie nucléaire par l'entremise d'une association qui remplit certaines fonctions propres à une société savante, la Société nucléaire canadienne. Formée à partir de la Société technique del'Association nucléaire canadienne, cette société établit un forum pour l'échange de connaissances specialisées qui englobe tous les aspects de l'utilisation pacifique de l'énergie nucléaire.

Objectifs: Encourager et promouvoir un environnement propice à la saine croissance de l'usage de l'énergie nucléaire et des radioisotopes; Encourager la coopération entre les diverses industries, les services publics, les maisons d'éducation, les services gouvernementaux et les autres corps autorisés qui s'intéressent en commun au développement et à l'usage économique de l'énergie nucléaire et des radioisotopes; constituer un forum pour la discussion et la solution des problèmes auxquels doivent faire face les membres, l'industrie ou le public canadien en général; stimuler la coopération avec les autres associations qui ont des objectifs similaires.
Membres: 150. Peut en faire partie tout organisme canadien ou étranger qui est engagé, ou le sera, dans le domaine de l'activité nucléaire et s'intéresse aux objectifs de l'Association. Peuvent aussi en faire partie les organismes préoccupés des fonctions connexes telles que: la préservation de l'environnement, les politiques de l'énergie, la finance et l'assurance.
Réunions: Annuelles (printemps).
Bibliothèque: Une petite bibliothèque dotée d'une excellente collection d'ouvrages de référence sur une vaste gamme de sujets relatifs à l'énergie nucléaire. Fréquentée par les membres et par le grand public.
Publications: Canada Nucléaire, 11 numéros par année. Comptes Rendus de la conférence annuelle, 1961 à date. Annuaire Canada Nucléaire. Nuclear Notes (anglais seulement). Diverse autres publications sur nucléaire. Rédacteur: J.A. Weller, (l'adresse est la même que celle de l'Association).

Vice-president: Constance Lebel. Term expires March 1989. Treasurer: Anne-Marie Brunet. Term expires March 1989.

History: The Association of Sexologists of Quebec was established in 1978. It regrouped students and graduates in sexology and professors of the Department of Sexology of the University of Quebec in Montreal. Gradually, members in related fields who could meet selective acceptance criterions joined the association. In 1984, the association started to welcome the first Masters in Sexology (this degree is unique in the world). For the last two mandates, presidents of the Association have had this degree. The Association now represents mostly members with B.A.'s or M.A.'s in Sexology and working in the field of education or therapy. The association has had for the last two years a code of ethics and has been trying to obtain recognition as a professional corporation.
Objectives: 1) to regroup in an association the sexologists of Quebec; 2) offer pertinent services to members of its corporation; 3) study, defend and develop the professional, economic and social interests of the sexologists of Quebec; 4) promote and maintain the highest scientific and professional standards in the practice of sexology and in the training and career development of its members; 5) develop professional relations between sexologists and any person or organization interested in sexology; 6) contribute to furthering sexology through study and reserch and any other appropriate means; 7) arouse public interest through a better understanding of sexology and the role of the sexologist.
Membership: 137 regular, 70 students, 1 honorary. Depending on extent of training: clinical stages, professional practice, be recognize by a professional corporation (l'Office des professions). Also, specialists recognized by scientific societies interested in participating to studies of the human sexuality and man's becoming.
Meetings: Annual (April).

155. CANADIAN ASSOCIATION OF GENERAL SURGEONS.
Box 4135, Edmonton, Alta. T6E 4T2. Tel.: (403) 437-1735. President: Dr. Fred G. Murphy, 272 St. George St., Moncton, N.B. E1G 1W6. Term expires September 1989. Secretary: Dr. Marvin J. Wexler, S7-30, Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, Que. H3A 1A1. Term expires September 1989. Executive Director: Dr. H. Thomas Williams, c/o Association.

History: Towards the end of the 1970's, a growing sentiment was developing for an organization to serve the interests of the general surgeons of Canada. Up until that time, general surgeons relied on the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada to represent them while all the other major surgical specialities had their own associations. Furthermore, the specialty was becoming fragmented by the formation of subspecialties and, consequently, the voice of general surgery was relatively ineffective in the political and economic changes affecting the practice of medicine. A group of general surgeons therefore organized the inaugural meeting of the Canadian Association of General Surgeons in Toronto in 1977. The first annual meeting of the Association was held the following year in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada.
Purpose: To bring together all Canadian general surgeons so that they can work together to better serve their patients.
Membership: 1,300. Requirements: Fellowship in General Surgery from the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada; Certificate from the American Board of General Surgery; Certificate in General Surgery from La Corporation professionnelle des medecins du Québec.

Membership: 749. Ordinary 512; Associate 45; Corresponding 41; Junior 96; Honorary 18; Emeritus 37. Ordinary Members: registered medical practitioners in good standing in one of the provinces of Canada who specialize in pathology and who devote their time predominantly to pathology, including all medically qualified laboratory workers such as bacteriologists, virologists, biochemists; must possess qualifications equivalent to those required by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada for certification as a specialist in pathology. Associate Members: physicians certified by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons in specialties other than laboratory sciences, or graduates in sciences other than medicine who are recognized as authority in their science and whose membership would further the aims and objectives of the Association.
Meetings: Annual (June). Entire membership meets annually; Executive and various committees meet several times yearly.
Publications: Canadian Association of Pathologists Newsletter, monthly. Editor: Dr. Harry Letts, Dept. of Laboratory Medicine, Royal Alexandra Hospital, Edmonton, Alta. T5H 3V9.

169. CANADIAN ASSOCIATION OF PHYSICAL MEDICINE AND REHABILITATION.
c/o Secretary: Dr. O. Maryniak, St. Mary's Hospital, 35 Grosvenor St., London, Ont. N6A 1Y6. Tel.: (519) 438-6185. President: Dr. Germain Boivin, 2696 Slannery St., Ottawa, Ont. K1V 8M2. Term expires September 1989. Treasurer: Dr. M.G.P. Cameron, 101 Normandy Gardens, London, Ont. N6H 4B1. Term expires September 1989.

History: Incorporated 1952.
Purpose: To establish an association of specialists in physical medicine and rehabilitation in Canada; to advance the practice of physical medicine and rehabilitation and to further the teaching of undergraduate and postgraduate students in this field; to represent the members of the Association in their relationships with governments, medical associations, universities, hospitals or other organizations; to promote high standards of training for allied groups concerned with physical medicine and rehabilitation; to advise the public and the profession in their choice of appliances used in physical medicine and rehabilitation.
Membership: 130. Active membership limited to duly qualified medical practitioners who are accredited specialists in physical medicine and rehabiliation by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada or a comparable licencing body.
Meetings: Annual (September).

170. CANADIAN ASSOCIATION OF PHYSICISTS - ASSOCIATION CANADIENNE DES PHYSICIENS.
151 Slater St., Ste. 903, Ottawa, Ont. K1P 5H3. Tel.: (613) 237-3392. President: L.G. Caron, Université de Sherbrooke, Sherbrooke, Que. Term expires June 1989. Secretary/ Treasurer: R.L. Clarke, Carleton University, Ottawa, Ont. Term expires June 1989. Executive-Secretary: Miss M.L. Jento, c/o Association. Term indefinite.

History: Organized 1946 as Canadian Association of Professional Physicists; present name adopted 1947. Incorporated 1951. Geographic districts: British Columbia and Yukon; Alberta; Manitoba and Saskatchewan; Southwestern Ontario; Central and Northern Ontario; Eastern Ontario; Quebec - nord et ouest; Québec - sud et est; New Brunswick and Newfoundland; Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. Committees: Science Policy; Editorial Board - Physics in Canada; Publications; Membership; Awards; Annual Meeting - Program; Annual Meeting - Local Arrangements; Secondary School Physics Examination; Nominating; Membership Campaign; Corporate Members; Honorary Advisory Council of Past Presidents (HCPP); Teller Committee; Physics and Society; University Physics Department Heads; Employment Opportunities; Professionalism; Women in Physics; Undergraduate Student Affairs; Radiation Regulations. Divisions: Aeronomy & Space Physics; Atomic & Molecular Physics; Canadian Geophysical Union; Condensed Matter Physics; Medical & Biological Physics; Nuclear Physics; Optical Physics; Particle Physics; Physics Education; Plasma Physics; Theoretical Physics; Industrial & Applied Physics; Surface Science.
Purpose: To further advancement of science of physics; to promote use of physical discoveries in interests of mankind; to promote knowledge in physical sciences and dissemination of information leading thereto in and between all sections and regions of Canada; to advance mutual understanding and cooperation between physicists, universities, research organizations and industry.
Membership: 1,600 Full Members; 40 Affiliate Members; 38 Student Members; 34 Corporate Members.
Meetings: Annual (June).
Professional activities: C.A.P. Lectureships covering most universities in Canada; C.A.P. Medals, annual: 1) for Achievement in Physics, 2) Herzberg; L.G. Elliott (University) Prize, cash awarded on basis of special examination to honour physics or engineering physics student; C.A.P. secondary school prizes on the basis of special examinations to students in local areas.
Publications: Careers in Physics/Carrières en physique. Physics in Canada/La Physique au Canada, six issues annually. Editor: Dr. G. Dolling, c/o Association. Directory of Canadian Physicists.

171. CANADIAN ASSOCIATION OF RADIOLOGISTS.
Ste. 506, 1440 St. Catherine St. W., Montreal, Que. H3G 1R8. Tel.: (514) 866-2035. President: Dr. W.J. Knickerbocker. Term expires June 1989. Honorary Secretary: Dr. David Gray. Term expires June 1991. Executive Director: Alva Ekstrand Pentecost, 1440 St. Catherine St. W., Montreal, Que. H3G 1R8.

History: Organized 1937; incorporated 1948. Provincial divisions.
Purpose: To advance the art and science of radiology, and to promote its interest in relation to medicine with particular reference to the clinical, educational, ethical and economic aspects thereof.
Membership: 2,000 Members. Qualified Members: certification of qualification by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada as a specialist in diagnostic and/or therapeutic radiology; membership in the Canadian Medical Association, or l'Association des médecins de langue française du Canada. Members-elect: persons in training for the specialty. Associate members: medical practitioners registered in the Dominion of Canada, engaged, but not exclusively, in the practice of radiology; persons specially qualified in a basic science related to and closely connected with the science or practice of radiology.
Meetings: Annual (June).
Professional activities: Congress Award presented for the best paper presented by a resident at the Congress Award Session of the Annual Meeting.
Publications: Journal, quarterly. Editor: Dr. Brian C. Lentle, c/o Association.

172. CANADIAN ASSOCIATION OF SPEECH-LANGUAGE PATHOLOGISTS AND AUDIOLOGISTS.
1215-25 Main St. W., Hamilton, Ont. L8P 1H1. Tel.: (416) 523-5790. President: Norma Wood. Term expires May 1989. President-Elect: Margaret Christie. Vice-Presidents: Christie Bentham, Ken Albanese.

History: CSHA was organized in 1963 and officially adopted Bylaws in 1964.
Purpose: To contribute to the advancement of the scientific study of the processes of individual human communications in speech and hearing; to encourage research and investigation into human speech and hearing disorders; to disseminate information by discussion, and by meeting, and such media as may lawfully be available to the Association, to the public in general and in particular those persons or classes of persons involved with or having care of individuals in whom speech and hearing disorders may be diagnosed and treated; to foster improvement in the professional proficiency of the members of the Association; to regulate the standard of proficiency of the membership and to promote and improve the performance of the highest ethical standards of practice in the profession of the diagnosing and treatment of speech and hearing disorders.
Membership: 2,600. On or after the 1st day of January, 1974, any person applying for full membership in the Association must have the following minimal qualifications: 18 semester hours in courses that provide fundamental information applicable to the normal development and use of speech, hearing and language; and 42 semester hours in courses that provide information about and training in the management of speech, hearing and language disorders and that provide information supplementary to these fields. Of these 42 semester hours, no fewer than 6 may be in audiology for the speech pathologist. No more than 6 of these semester hours may be in courses that provide academic credit for clinical practice. Of these 42 semester hours, at least 24, not including credit for thesis or dissertation, must be in courses in the field of speech pathology for the speech pathologist or audiology for the audiologist.

Meetings: Annual (May).
Professional activities: Convention Member's Papers play a primary role; Honors of the Association Award; Distinguished Service Award; Medal for Outstanding Professional Achievement.
Publications: Human Communication Canada, 5/year. Editor: Dr. Christine Sloan, Dalhouse University, Halifax, N.S.

173. CANADIAN ASSOCIATION OF SPORT SCIENCES.
333 River Rd., Ottawa, Ont. K1L 8H9. Tel.: (613) 748-5671. Telex: 053 3660. President: Dr. Robert Schutz. Term expires October 1989. Secretary: Dr. Earl Noble. Term expires October 1989.

History: Founded in 1967, involved in promoting research in sport and fitness.
Purpose: To promote and advance scientific studies and medical studies relating to sport and fitness; to establish an association of professional persons interested in the scientific aspects of sport and fitness in Canada.
Membership: 500. Members are professors, physicians, students. Requirements: Professor or Masters level achievement in sport science; or a student; or affiliated field.
Meetings: Annual (October).
Professional Activities: Research; extensive awards program.
Publications: CJSS (Canadian Journal of Sport Science), 4/year. Editor: Dr. Roy Shephard, University of Toronto, 320 Huron St., Toronto, Ont. M5S 1A1. Physiology Testing of the Elite Athlete.

174. CANADIAN ASSOCIATION OF TEXTILE COLOURISTS AND CHEMISTS - ONTARIO SECTION.
c/o Secretary: Alan Metcalfe, 41 Northland Cr., Woodstock, Ont. N4S 6T4. Term expires February 1989. President: K. Harmer, 126 Blenheim Rd., Cambridge, Ont. N1S 1G4. Term expires February 1989. Treasurer: S. Phipps. Vice-Presidents: W. O'Neill, C. Hodgkinson.

History: Established in 1935 in Hamilton, Ontario. A Quebec section was established in 1936. Both sections are governed by a National Council composed of members from each Section.
Purpose: To benefit its members by a) increasing knowledge of the application of dyes and chemicals in the textile industry; b) increasing research work in chemical processes and materials of importance to the textile industry; c) establishing channels for increased interchange of professional knowledge and ideas, and d) sponsoring and encouraging textile technical education.
Membership: 171 Active, Emeritus, Student. Any person possessing at least one of the following qualifications may become a member: a) not less than two years of practical experience in bleaching, dyeing, printing or finishing textiles; b) not less than two years experience as a supplier of textile chemicals, dyestuffs, or textile dyeing and finishing machinery; c) is a student or graduate of a recognized textile school or university where he or she is studying or has studied bleaching, dyeing, printing or finishing of textiles. Application for Active Membership must be sponsored by two Active Members in good standing.
Meetings: Annual (February).
Professional Activities: A student award, the C.P. Carney Memorial Award, is given annually to a Mohawk College student. Meritorious Service Awards are given when deemed appropriate. Student sponsorship to Textile Federation of Canada seminar every two years.

175. CANADIAN ASSOCIATION OF TEXTILE COLOURISTS AND CHEMISTS, QUEBEC SECTION.
(En français voir: ASSOCIATION CANADIENNE DES COLORISTES ET CHIMISTES DU TEXTILE, SECTION QUEBEC)
Tel.: (514) 731-3781. Fax: 514-464-1137. President: Maurice Corbeil, 547 Des Forges, Beloeil, Que. J3G 4S5. Term expires April 1989. Secretary: Louise Grenier. Term expires April 1989. Treasurer: Claudette Holmes. Term expires April 1989.

History: Organized 1936.
Purpose: To benefit its members by increasing knowledge of the application of dyes and chemicals in the textile industry, by increasing research work on chemical processes and materials of importance in the textile industry, by establishing channels for increased interchange of professional knowledge and ideas, and by sponsoring and encouraging technical education in the textile industry.
Membership: 438. Any person having not less than two years practical experience in bleaching, dyeing, printing, or finishing of textile fibres, or suppliers of chemicals, dyestuffs, and dyeing and finishing equipment, or graduates in bleaching, dyeing, printing, and finishing of a recognized textile school, who are interested in promoting all or any of the objects of the Association, shall be eligible for membership. Membership classes: Active, Honorary, Corporate, Associate, and Student, Active Members to be 21 years of age or over.
Meetings: Annual (April).
Professional activities: Whattam Award given to outstanding student in third year of class on dyeing and chemistry in sponsored classes held at Provincial Institute of Textiles, Province of Quebec, St. Hyacinthe, Que.
Publications: Canadian Textile Journal, monthly. Editor: Adrienne Chinn, 1 Pacifique, St. Anne de Bellevue, Que. H9X 1C5.

176. CANADIAN ASSOCIATION ON WATER POLLUTION RESEARCH AND CONTROL.
(En français voir: ASSOCIATION CANADIENNE POUR LA RECHERCHE SUR LA POLLUTION DE L'EAU ET SA MAITRISE.)
President: Prof. Keith Murphy, Dept. of Civil Engineering, McMaster University,

Hamilton, Ont. L8S 4L7. Tel: (416) 525-9140. Term expires February 1989. Secretary: Dr. Roland Leduc, Civil Engineering, McGill University, Montreal, Que. H3A 2K6. Term expires February 1989. Treasurer: Dr. Eric Davis, Dept. of Civil Engineering, University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, Sask. S7N 0W0.

History: Canada joined the IAWPRC (International Association on Water Pollution Research and Control) in 1967. Two years prior to this, researchers from various Canadian universities initiated what was to become a series of annual conferences on water pollution research and published the proceedings. This publication is now a refereed journal, The Water Pollution Research Journal of Canada. The original group of researchers formed the Canadian National Committee (CNC) to serve as a link with IAWPRC. In 1984, the Canadian Association on Water Pollution Research and Control (CAWPRC) was formed as an autonomous body to organize local and national conferences, publish the Journal and liaison closely with the IAWPRC.
Purpose: To disseminate knowledge in the areas of water pollution research and control.
Membership: Approximately 200. Involvement in the areas of water pollution research and control is required.
Meetings: Two per year (February, October).
Publications: Water Pollution Research Journal of Canada, tri-monthly. Editor: Dr. R.J. Allan, National Water Research Institute, Burlington, Ont.

177. CANADIAN ASTRONOMICAL SOCIETY.
(En français voir: SOCIETE CANADIENNE D'ASTRONOMIE)
Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, National Research Council Canada, 5071 W. Saanich Rd., Victoria, B.C., V8X 4M6. Tel: (604) 388-0008, 388-0001. Telex: 049 7295. President: Dr. Georges Michaud, Dept. de Physique, Université de Montréal, Montréal, Qué. H3C 3J7. Term expires June 1990. Secretary: Chris Aikman, c/o Association. Term expires June 1989. Vice-President: Dr. Sidney van den Berg, Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Victoria, B.C. V8X 4M6. Term expires June 1990.

History: Formed in 1971, incorporated in 1983, as a society of professional astronomers. Committees of the Society - Education, Theoretical Astronomy, Space Astronomy, Radio Astronomy, Optical and Infrared Astronomy, Computing Facilities, Heritage.
Purpose: The Society is devoted to the promotion and advancement of astronomy and related sciences through research and education.
Membership: 331, including 264 Ordinary, 60 Student, 2 Honorary and 5 Corporate Members. Ordinary members of the Society must be professionally engaged (considered as holding a master's degree or equivalent experience) in astronomy or astrophysics.
Meetings: Annual (May/June).
Professional Activities: The main activities of the Society are its annual scientific meetings, the planning and realization of scientific projects, and a small grants program in aid of research.
Publications: Cassiopeia, (newsletter), quarterly (at solstices and equinoxes). Editor: Dr. Colin Scarfe, Dept. of Physics, University of Victoria, Victoria, B.C. V8W 2Y2. Meeting reports and abstracts are published in Journal of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada.

178. CANADIAN BIOCHEMICAL SOCIETY - SOCIETE CANADIENNE DE BIOCHIMIE.
Biochemistry Dept., University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Man. R3E 0W3. Tel.: (204) 788-6723. President: Dr. Kevin Keough, Dept. of Biochemistry, University of Newfoundland, St. John's, Nfld. A1B 3X9. Term expires June 1988.

History: Society was organized at a meeting of biochemists at the University of Ottawa on October 9, 1957. The first meeting was held at Queen's University in 1958. The Society joined the Canadian Federation of Biological Societies at its first annual meeting.
Purpose: To foster the science of biochemistry.
Membership: 849. Members must have demonstrated an interest in biochemistry through research or scholarship. Three types: 707 Ordinary, 83 Student and 59 Emeritus.
Meetings: Annual (June) - with Canadian Federation of Biological Societies.
Professional activities: Sponsor Ayerst Award and Boehringer-Mannheim Prize, organize international symposia.
Publications: Bulletin of Canadian Biochemical Society, 2 per/year. Editor: Dr. Morris Kates, Dept. of Biochemistry, University of Ottawa, Ottawa, Ont.

179. CANADIAN BOTANICAL ASSOCIATION.
(In French see: ASSOCIATION BOTANIQUE DU CANADA.)
President: Dr. Larry Peterson, Dept. of Botany, University of Guelph, Guelph, Ont. N1G 2W1. Term expires August 1989. Secretary: Sylvia Taylor, University of British Columbia, Botanical Gardens, 6501 N.W. Marine Dr., Vancouver, B.C. V6T 1W5. Term expires August 1990. President-Elect: Dr. Irwin Brodo.

History: The initiation of the Canadian Botanical Association began in 1963 when the Royal Society of Canada endorsed a recommendation of its Special Committee on the Role of Plant Sciences in Canadian Scientific Endeavour to foster the formation of a Canadian botanical society. Through the activity of its convenor, Dr. P.R. Gorham, Dr. R.A. Ludwig, Director of the Plant Research Institute of the Department of Agriculture, Canada, convened a meeting of 15 botanists to devise a plan for the creation of a botanical organization for those botanists who were not represented by current Canadian botanical societies. As a result of the action taken at this meeting, the Royal Society of Canada sponsored a meeting of representative Canadian botanists, to discuss the formation of a Canadian botanical society, on March 9, 1964. A provisional committee was established at this March meeting and a national meeting was scheduled in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Canadian Plant Physiologists Society that was held at Queen's University in June of 1964. A total of 68 botanists representing 29 institutions from seven provinces attended the meeting in Kingston. The formation of an interim organization, known as the Canadian Botanical Organization, was approved in principle. It was further agreed that a founding meeting would be scheduled for early spring at Carleton University. The founding meeting was held on May 26-28 at Carleton. A constitution and by-laws were approved, an executive was elected and the name the Canadian Botanical Association - Association botanique du Canada was established for the society.

Purpose: To encourage research and education in botany and to represent its members both nationally and internationally.

Membership: 375. The membership shall consist of persons having a scientific interest in botany.

Meetings: Annual (August).

Professional activities: The Association is an active member of the Biological Council of Canada (B.C.C.). In 1969, the CBA/ABC established the George Lawson Medal in honour of Canada's earliest distinguished botanists. This award is made "to provide a collective and formal expression of the admiration and respect of botanists in Canada for the excellence of the contribution of an individual to Canadian botany". Other awards are the Mary E. Elliott Service Award for "meritorious service to the Canadian Botanical Association", the Lionel Cinq-Mars Award for the best student paper presented orally at the Annual Meeting of the Association, and the Luella K. Weresub Mycology Award for the best paper arising from mycological work to be published in the previous year by a student at a Canadian university or by a Canadian student working abroad.

Publications: CBA/ABC Bulletin, quarterly. Editor: Dr. Usher Posluszny, Dept. of Botany, University of Guelph, Guelph, Ont. N1G 2W1.

180. CANADIAN CANCER SOCIETY
77 Bloor St. W., Ste. 1702, Toronto, Ont. M5S 3A1. (416) 961-7223. Fax: 416-961-4189. President: Dr. Gwyneth J. Ballantyne. Term expires June 1990. Secretary/Treasurer: Roger Haddad, c/o Association. Term indefinite. Chief Executive Officer: Doug Barr. Term indefinite.

History: The Society was incorporated as a national body in 1938. It grew out of a request from doctors for a lay-medical organization that would help bring cancer patients into their offices earlier. There are thousands of volunteers who are involved in campaign, public education and service to patients. There are more than 1,400 communities in Canada served by local organizations of the Society, and its services are extended to about 3,400 other localities. The Canadian Cancer Society supports a large nation-wide cancer research program through its affiliate, the National Cancer Institute of Canada (NCIC). In addition to turning over to the NCIC almost 50 per cent of its campaign funds for research purposes, the Society also offers fellowships to provide specialized training for clinicians.

Purpose: The purpose of the Society is to aid in coordinating and correlating the efforts of individuals and organized bodies to reduce the mortality from cancer in Canada, through research, public education and service to patients.

Membership: 3,500,000. Anyone with a current valid receipt of donation to the Society.

Meetings: Annual (March)

Professional Activities: Sponsors McEachern Fellowships, Blair travelling fellowships, Maurice Legault Oncological Nursing fellowships.

Library: A library of periodicals is maintained.

Publications: Progress Against Cancer, quarterly. Editor: Kirsten Ring, c/o Society.

181. CANADIAN CARBONIZATION RESEARCH ASSOCIATION.
P.O. Box 291, Station A, Burlington, Ont. L7R 3Y2. Tel.: (416) 637-0666. President: Dr. R.W. Leeder, Denison Mines Ltd., P.O. Box 11575, Vancouver, B.C. V7B 4N7. Term expires September 1989. Secretary: Dr. J.T. Price, Section Head, Carbonization, Energy Research Laboratories, CANMET, Ottawa, Ont. K1A 0G1. Term indefinite. Treasurer: G.A. Chapman.

History: CCRA was formed in 1965 by the steel and coal industries in Canada as a mechanism to promote and establish carbonization research in Canada. CCRA incorporated in 1981 under the Canadian Corporations Act to insure long term aims of promoting R & D in carbonization are met.

Purpose: To promote R & D in carbonization and to carry out joint R & D efforts in co-operation with the ERL of CANMET.

Membership: 11 Corporate, Federal Government. Must be active in carbonization either as a coal producer, by-product producer or operate coke ovens.

Meetings: 2 Business Meetings per year (September and February). 8 Technical Meetings per year (September thru May).

Professional Activities: CCRA sponsors research at CANMET and in universities as part of its overall program.

182. CANADIAN CARDIOVASCULAR SOCIETY - SOCIETE CANADIENNE DE CARDIOLOGIE.
360 Victoria Ave., Room 401, Westmount, Que. H3Z 2N4. Tel.: (514) 482-3407.

President: Dr. W.J. Keon, University of Ottawa Heart Institute, Ottawa Civic Hospital, 1053 Carling Ave., Ottawa, Ont. K1Y 4E9. Term expires October 1990. Secretary: Dr. L. Higginson, University of Ottawa Heart Institute, Ottawa Civic Hospital, 1053 Carling Ave., Ottawa, Ont. K1Y 4E9. Term indefinite. Treasurer: Dr. H.F. Mizgala, Vancouver General Hospital, 2775 Heather St., Vancouver, B.C. V5Z 1M9. Term indefinite.

History: Founded in 1947 in Montreal under the name of Canadian Heart Association, Inc., and incorporated in 1949, it groups all clinicians and investigators interested in the fight against cardiovascular diseases.
Purpose: To promote the prevention and relief of cardiovascular disorders.
Membership: 830. Anyone interested in the field of circulation. This includes cardiologists, internists, cardiac surgeons, cardiovascular surgeons, pediatric cardiologists, radiologists, workers and teachers in the basic sciences related to circulatory diseases and researchers in circulatory diseases or related topics.
Meetings: Annual (October).
Professional activities: Holds Annual Scientific Meeting for the presentation of symposia, lectures and research papers on topics related to cardiovascular disease. Young Investigator Award of $500.00 to an investigator under the age of 40 for work in the cardiovascular field. Research Achievement Award of $1,000 to recognize research excellence in an established investigator. Student Presentation Award of $250 to recognize the scientific merit and excellence of presentation or research by a resident/research fellow/graduate student in a training program.

183. CANADIAN CERAMIC SOCIETY.
2175 Sheppard Ave. E., Ste. 110, Willowdale, Ont. M2J 1W8. Tel.: (416) 491-2886. Fax: 416-491-1670. President: John Storer-Folt. Term expires February 1989. Secretary: Diane Gaunt. Term indefinite.

History: The Canadian Ceramic Society was established in 1932 when the Canadian National Clay Products Association (formed in 1901) and the Canadian Enamellers' Association (formed in 1930) joined forces to study and deal with ceramic problems. Divisions: Structural Clay and Refractories; Enamel; Pottery and White-wares; Glass; and Electronics.
Purpose: To advance the ceramic arts and sciences and to encourage study and research in the various branches of the ceramic field; to promote improvement of the methods of production and quality of product; and to establish intimate and mutually helpful relations between companies and persons engaged in the industry.
Membership: 504. 64 Corporate Members; 403 Individual Members; 13 Retired Members; 18 Student Members; 7 Honorary Members. History: The Canadian Geotechnical Society (CGS) began operation in 1972. Prior to this, geotechnical activities in Canada had been sponsored primarily by the Associate Committee on Geotechnical Research of the National Research Council of Canada (NRC). The series of Annual Geotechnical Conferences sponsored by NRC were continued by CGS. Local geotechnical groups that had been operating in several Canadian cities became local sections of CGS. The Society is a constituent society of the Engineering Institute of Canada. Local activities of the Society are administered on a regional basis. A director from each of the following regions is selected: British Columbia, Northern Alberta, Southern Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Southern Ontario, Ottawa Valley to Northern and Eastern Ontario, Western Quebec, Eastern Quebec, Atlantic Provinces. Local sections are operating in several Canadian cities within these regions. The Society has four technical divisions: soil mechanics and foundations; engineering geology; rock mechanics; cold regionsl geotechnology. All Society members belong to one or more divisions. Additional divisions will be set up as the need or demand arises.
Purpose: The purpose of the Society is the stimulation of activities and cooperation among engineers and others for the advancement of knowledge in the geotechnical field in Canada. In Society affairs, the geotechnical field includes the study of the properties of soil, rock, peat, permafrost, snow and ice, the influence of environmental factors on such properties and the application of this knowledge.

205. CANADIAN GERIATRICS RESEARCH SOCIETY.
21 Dundas Sq., Toronto, Ont. M5B 1B7. Tel.: (416) 363-3218. President: Ken Whiteside, c/o Society. Term expires June 1989. Treasurer: Paul D. Matthews. Term expires June 1989. Chairman: Jed Purcell. Term expires June 1989. Executive Director: Donna E. Metcalfe. Term indefinite.

History: About 31 years ago, Dr. W.W. Priddle, F.A.C.P., F.R.C.P.(C) and Harold S. Shannon, a prominent Toronto business man, conceived the idea of an organization specifically directed to clinical medical research into the degenerative diseases resulting from the aging processes. Great strides had been made in medicine, only a small part relating to geriatrics. With the many problems of aging being related to degenerative diseases, it was apparent that these diseases must be studied in their incipient stages with emphasis on prevention. Thus came into being by charter in March, 1955, an organization known as the Ontario Geriatrics Research Society. From this beginning has grown the Canadian Geriatrics Research Society with the issuance of Letters Patent by the Province of Ontario on April 16th, 1975.
Purpose: A non-profit organization dedicated to the financial support and medical implementation of basic and clinical research as well as related technological studies in the field of geriatrics - the medical arm of gerontology which embraces all sciences dealing with mental, physical and socio-economic ailments and problems resulting from the aging process. Represents expanding and intensified medical and technological studies of the process and diseases of age and aging, and the prevention and treatment of degenerative physical and mental diseases associated with aging. The Society seeks to prevent, or at least to reduce, the misery, suffering and privation resulting from impaired hearing, sight, locomotion and mental faculties; the deterioration of the muscular, circulatory and nervous systems; respiratory and glandular failures, to name only a few of the ailments and diseases that, particularly in senior years, can replace happiness, vitality and wellbeing with a meaningless, useless, and burdensome existence.
Membership: Individuals definitely interested in geriatrics - particularly in geriatric research.
Meetings: Annual (June).
Professional activities: Research activities are directed by a Medical Advisory Board of prominently capable specialists who devote their time and knowledge to this humanitarian work without personal benefit.
Library: The J.W. Crane Memorial Library is a collection of information on geriatric medicine and gerontology. the library endeavours to purchase all new books in geriatric medicine, subscribe to the geriatrics periodicals, and maintain a file of reprints of articles on geriatrics from other medical journals. Materials are selectively collected on the social and psychological aspects of aging, and on the biology of aging. The services of a professional librarian are available to answer questions and to provide information, bibliographies and materials on any subject in geriatrics and gerontology. The collection and services of the Library are available to other libraries through interlibrary loan.

243 College St., 5th Flr., Toronto, Ont. M5T 2Y1. Tel.: (416) 593-4040. President: Patricia Glenn. Term expires May 1989. Secretary-Treasurer: Gunner Gotshalks. Term indefinite. Operating Officer: J. David Long. Term permanent.

History: The field of interest of the Canadian Information Processing Society, formerly the Computer Society of Canada, is the electronic computer and all its applications. The Society was formed shortly after a Canadian conference on the subject in June 1958 at the University of Toronto. The enthusiastic response of more than 400 persons attending this conference clearly indicated a need for an organization to bring together the many interests of the scientists, businessmen and women, university professors and others who are making their careers in the field of computing and information processing. The Society is managed by a National Board of Directors elected by the membership. The Board elects its own officers with the exception of the First Vice-President who is elected by the membership, and who automatically becomes the President the following year. Ten directors represent nine electoral regions of Canada and are elected by members resident in each region. The National Board determines overall policy and is responsible for Society publications, conferences, membership and the collection of dues. The focal point of Society activities lies at the local section level where regular programs of invited speakers, panels, tours, etc., take place between September and June each year. Sections operate in the following centres in Canada: Victoria, Vancouver, Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Regina, Winnipeg, Waterloo, Hamilton, Toronto, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec and Halifax, Red Deer, Moncton, London, Nanaimo, Fredericton, St. John's, Saint John, and Kamloops. The Society is a charter member of the International Federation for Information Processing (IFIP), and represents Canada in this worldwide organization. The Society also participates in the work of the International Organization for Standardization (ISO) through its membership in the Committee on Computers and Information Processing of the Canadian Standards Association, The Society co-operates with the Association for Computing Machinery (ACM) in publishing Computing Reviews and maintains close relations with it in other fields. In 1971 the Computer Science Association joined CIPS as a special interest group for university computing science.
Purpose: The advancement of computing and information processing by: holding meetings and conferences; collaborating with educational institutions and other specifically interested groups; publishing technical and other information; exchanging information between members and between similar associations; fostering educational programs for the membership; providing a national source of information and representation; and representing Canada in international societies concerned with information processing.
Membership: 5,019; Active, Honorary and Institutional members. Active: individuals engaged in the administration, practice or teaching of computing and information processing. Honorary: granted to those who, in the opinion of the National Board, would further the objectives of the Society, but who do not qualify for active membership. Institutional: organizations which make an annual financial contribution to the Society to further the Society's objectives.
Meetings: Annual Meeting (May). Annual National Conference. Annual National Seminar.
Professional activities: The Education Committee has the triple concern of member education, relations with educational institutions and education of the public. It publishes a Survey of Computer Science Courses at Canadian Institutions. Several sections have held computer days for high school students. Seminars for the general public on such subjects as computers in education or application of computers in government are being arranged. These will be of a high standard and will be held across Canada. The Society has developed a panel of qualified speakers available for local sections.

221. CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF PLANNERS.
46 Elgin St., Ste. 30, Ottawa, Ont. K1P 5K6. Tel.: (613) 233-2105. President: Dave Witty. Term expires July 1989. President Elect: John Steil. Term expires July 1990. Executive Director: David H. Sherwood, c/o Institute. Term indefinite.

History: The Town Planning Institute of Canada was incorporated under federal charter on October 22, 1923 and remained active until the mid-1930's. In 1952, the charter was re-activated and by supplementary letters patent, May 13, 1974, the name of the Institute was changed to the Canadian Institute of Planners. C.I.P., an affiliated organization since 1972, is the professional body representing planners in Canada. There are three classes of membership: Members; Provisional Members; and Students. CIP deals with national issues of concern to planners such as the development of an Institute position on energy, transferability of membership rights from province to province, membership standards and policies, recognition of planning schools, etc. Implementation of national policies are carried out by the affiliates. All CIP members belong to both the national body and to a local affiliate. The affiliates are: Planning Institute of British Columbia, Alberta Association of Canadian Institute of Planners, Association of Professional Community Planners of Saskatchewan, Manitoba Association of Canadian Institute of Planners, Eastern Ontario Chapter of Canadian Institute of Planners, Corporation professionnelle des urbanistes du Quebec, Atlantic Planners Institute.

Purpose: To show initiative in efforts at all levels to maintain and improve the quality of the environment of Canadian cities and regions; to advance and promote the values, use and methods of planning in the development of Canadian cities and regions; to promote and maintain high standards of professional planning practice and ethical behaviours in relation to the broad public interest, to the profession and to the client; to encourage communication and cooperation among all professions concerned with improving the quality of the urban and regional environment.

Membership: 3,300: Members - Provisional, Students, Fellows, Honorary. Student Members: a Canadian graduate programme in planning; or a Canadian undergraduate programme in planning whose degree is recognized by the National Membership Committee; or a foreign programme in planning recognized by the Royal Town Planning Institute or the American Institute of Planners. Provisional Members: Provisional Membership is available to persons who hold: a bachelor's degree recognized by the N.M.C.; or its equivalent as determined by the N.M.C. and who has shown evidence acceptable to the N.M.C. that the person seriously intends and expects to become a Member within seven years from the date of admission to Provisonal Membership. Member: a doctorate, master's or four-year bachelor's degree in planning recognized by the N.M.C. and has obtained at least two years of professional planning experience, not less than one of which shall have been responsible planning experience in Canada; or a master's degree or doctorate recognized by the N.M.C. in a field related to planning as defined by the N.M.C. and has acquired four years of professional planning experience, not less than two of which shall have been obtained in Canada including at least one year of responsible planning experience, and who has satisfied the Institute's examination requirements; or a bachelor's or higher degree recognized by the N.M.C. or an equivalent qualification as determined by the N.M.C. and has acquired six years of professional planning experience, not less than two years of which shall have been obtained in Canada including at least one year of responsible planning experience; and who has satisfied the Institute examination requirements. Special admission to membership is available to a person who has applied for membership and who, on the recommendation of the National Membership Committee: has membership in an association of professional planners; and whose qualifications for that membership in the opinion of the N.M.C. are the equivalent of those of a Member of the Institute; or in the opinion of the N.M.C. has been engaged in ten years of professional planning experience of which at least five have been of a responsible nature in Canada; and is, in the opinion of the N.M.C., deserving of special consideration by virtue of the professional planning work the applicant has undertaken; and has been nominated to be a Member by three Members of the Institute having direct knowledge of the applicant's work; and may become a Member after satisfying the examination requirements and having been elected by a majority vote of Council.

1867 Alta Vista Dr., Ottawa, Ont. K1G 0G8. Tel.: (613) 731-9331. Telex: 053 3152. Fax: 613-731-9013. President: Dr. J. O'Brien-Bell. Term expires August 1989. Secretary General: Léo-Paul Landry. Term indefinite.

History: Organized in 1867; incorporated in 1909. A federation of ten provincial divisions, each autonomous in its own sphere, but combining to form the largest medical association in this country. These provincial medical associations unite at the national level through the C.M.A. for the more effective handling of health and medical issues common to all. The General Council, the parliament and policy maker of Canadian medicine, is a widely representative democratic body of approximately 210 members who comprise the Council. It is composed of the officers of the Association, representatives of the Divisions, chairmen of the Councils, the Past-Presidents, representatives of affiliated national medical societies, and a few other members in special classes. The General Council meets at the time of the annual meeting and receives for deliberation the reports of the Board of Directors, wholly owned subsidiary MD Management Limited and all special committees. The General Council elects annually the officers and members of the Board of Directors. The Board of Directors, the cabinet of the C.M.A., consists of the officers of the Association and representatives of each Division - a total of 24 members. The Board of Directors, meets at least four times a year; serving to implement decisions of the General Council and to act for it between meetings. Councils: the three Councils, the Council on Medical Education, the Council on Health Care, and the Council on Economics work in clearly defined areas. Each reports to the General Council and makes recommendations relating to its specific field of responsibility. The General Council and the Board in turn refer to the Councils problems and suggestions which require deliberation and recommendations. MD Management Limited, a wholly CMA owned subsidiary corporation, is charged with the responsibility of operating a retirement savings plan and other CMA membership, investment and services programs.
Purpose: To promote the medical and related arts and sciences and to maintain the honour and the interests of the medical profession; to aid in the furtherance of measures designed to improve the public health and to prevent disease and disability; to promote the improvement of medical services however rendered; to publish the Canadian Medical Association Journal and such other periodic journals as may be authorized, together with such transactions, reports, books, brochures, or other papers as may promote the objects of the Association; to assist in the promotion of measures designed to improve standards of hospital and medical services; to promote the interests of the members of the Association and to act on their behalf in the promotion thereof; to grant sums of money out of the funds of the Association for the furtherance of these objects; and to do such other lawful things as are incidental or conducive to the attainment of the above objects.

Membership: Approximately 45,000. Every member in good standing in a Division is automatically an ordinary member of the Canadian Medical Association on payment of the required fee.

238. CANADIAN NUCLEAR ASSOCIATION.
(En français voir: ASSOCIATION NUCLEAIRE CANADIENNE)
111 Elizabeth St., Toronto, Ont. M5G 1P7. Tel.: (416) 977-6152. Telex: 06-23741. Fax: 416-979-8356. Chairman/Chief Executive Officer: Dr. O.J.C. Runnalls. Term expires June 1989. Vice-Presidents: J.E. Wilson, R. Dionne-Marsolais. Terms indefinite. Director of Administration: K. Krawczewski. Term indefinite.

History: The Canadian Nuclear Association is a non-profit voluntary membership body, established in 1960, for the purpose of promoting the orderly and sound development of nuclear energy for peaceful uses in Canada and abroad. The CNA is not a trade association in the strict sense of the term. A trade association is normally regarded as an association of competitors joined for the promotion and protection of the trade, or industry in which they compete. Because of the extreme breadth and complexity of nuclear application, the "nuclear industry" is not a single, well defined industry, but one composed of many industries and enterprises, held together by the unifying bond of interest in the development and appplication of nuclear energy for peaceful purposes. Consequently, the Association's membership includes manufacturers, electric power utilities, architects, and consulting engineers, construction firms, banks, insurance companies, transportation companies and non-profit enterprises such as educational institutions, research laboratories, labour unions, and departments of federal and provincial governments.

Purpose: To promote and foster an environment favourable to the healthy growth of the uses of nuclear energy and radioisotopes; to encourage co-operation between various industries, utilities, educational institutions, government departments and agencies, and other authoritative bodies which have a common interest in the development of economic nuclear power and uses of radioisotopes; to provide a forum for the discussion and resolution of problems which are of concern to the members, to the industry or to the Canadian public generally; and to stimulate co-operation with other associations that have similar objectives and purposes.

Membership: 150. Membership is available to any Canadian or overseas organization which is, or expects to be, engaged in some form of nuclear activity and is interested in the objectives of the Association. Individual membership is available to all persons employed by member organizations.

Meetings: Annual (June).

Library: A small library on nuclear topics. Open to members and the public.

Publications: Nuclear Canada, 11 issues a year. Editor: J.A. Weller, Canadian Nuclear Association, 111 Elizabeth St., Toronto, Ont. M5G 1P7. Nuclear Notes, a periodic information service for members of the Canadian Nuclear Association. Proceedings of Annual Conferences from 1961 to date. Nuclear Canada Yearbook. Various other publications on nuclear subjects.

239. CANADIAN NUCLEAR SOCIETY.
(En français voir: SOCIETE NUCLEAIRE CANADIENNE)
111 Elizabeth St., Toronto, Ont. M5G 1P7. Tel.: (416) 977-7620. Telex: 06-23741. President: Ken Talbot, Ontario Hydro, Pickering N.G.S., P.O. Box 160, Pickering, Ont. L1V 2R5. Term expires June 1989. Vice-President: Dr. Eva Rosinger, Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., Whiteshell Nuclear Research, Pinawa, Man. ROE 1LO. Term expires June 1989. Secretary: Dr. Gil Phillips, Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., Chalk River Nuclear Labs., Chalk River, Ont. KOJ 1JO Term expires June 1989. General Manager: J.A. Weller. Term indefinite.

History: The Canadian Nuclear Society is a society of men and women who have a professional interest in nuclear science and technology as well as an abiding concern for the emerging global energy-resource crisis. Most CNS members are engineers and scientists actively contributing to the solution to technical problems connected with nuclear energy production, utilization and resources, while other members pursue nuclear applications outside the energy field. Many members are concerned also with the socio-economic factors which will determine, in the final analysis, the particular mix of energy alternatives which will be at the disposal of future societies. The choices that are currently being made will profoundly affect economic and political order in the world of the future and will determine the course of development of the human condition in all estates.

Purpose: To act as a forum for the exchange of information relating to nuclear energy among diverse specialists, members of learned societies, and others; to hold meetings for the presentation, discussion and publication of scientific, technical and other papers relating to nuclear energy; to organize branches which will provide focal points for the individual and regional interests of members across the country; to engage in such activities as may pertain to the objectives of the Society in particular and to the Canadian Nuclear Association in general. The Canadian Nuclear Society has as one of its prime objectives the development of opportunities for the exchange of information relating to nuclear science and technology among diverse specialists both within the Canadian Nuclear Society and with the established learned societies. An important additional role for the Canadian Nuclear Society over the critical next few years will be to enable its members to constructively influence decisions on energy issues. A concensus view of energy issues derived from individual Canadians engaged in energy science and technology will be welcomed by both the elected decision-makers and the population in general. The Canadian Nuclear Society will strive to assure that such a concensus view is heard.

Membership: Membership of the Canadian Nuclear Society shall be open to all persons who qualify according to the requirements of the Membership Committee of the Council. In general, membership eligibility shall be determined on the basis of individual interest in, and potential contribution toward, the field of nuclear energy.

Meetings: Annual (June).

Professional activities: Organize conferences, symposia, etc. on specialized technical, scientific topics as well as the Annual Conference of the Canadian Nuclear Society held in conjunction with the Annual International Meeting of the Canadian Nuclear Association; collaborate in organizing the CNS Annual Student Conference on Nuclear Topics; develop CNS branches in various localities and at universities; develop topical divisions of the CNS; organize topical seminars; produce a CNS newsletter; other program items suggested by the CNS membership; publication of a technical journal.

Publications: CNS Bulletin SNC, 6/year. Editor: Jatin Nathwani, Ontario Hydro, 700

University Ave., Toronto, Ont. M5G 1X6. Proceedings of Annual Conference and of Technical Symposia.

274. CANADIAN SOCIETY FOR CIVIL ENGINEERING.
Ste. 700, 2050 Mansfield St., Montreal, Que. H3A 1Z2. Tel.: (514) 842-5653. Fax: 514-842-8123. President: Peter Smith, Research and Development Branch, Ontario Min. of Transportation, 1201 Wilson Ave., Toronto, Ont. M3M 1J8. Term expires May 1989. Senior Vice-President: Stephen G. Revay, Revay & Assoc. Ltd. 4333 St. Catherine St. W., Montreal, Que. H3Z 1P9.

History: In 1887, nineteen prominent civil engineers petitioned the Canadian Government for a charter for the "Canadian Society of Civil Engineers". Led by Thomas C. Keefer and Sir Casimir Gzowski, they were seeking to create a society whose objectives remain almost unchanged to the present. In 1918 the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers was renamed The Engineering Institute of canada (EIC) to accomodate engineers in other growing disciplines. Finally, as each discipline's own identity prevailed, the need for constituent societies became apparent. The Canadian Society for Civil Engineering (CSCE) was established in 1972 operating within the framework of the EIC. After considerable evaluation and concern with future development the society was incorporated on August 17, 1985. Today the CSCE has nine dynamic technical divisions. It remains a member society of the Enginering Institute of Canada which has undergone a transfiguration into a federation.

Purpose: The objectives of the Society are: to develop and maintain high standards in the theory and practice of civil engineering; to facilitate the acquirement and the interchange of professional knowledge among its members; to enhance the usefulness of the profession; to collaborate with universities and other educational institutions in the advancement of Civil Engineering; to cooperate with other technical societies for the advancement of the profession; to encourage research and the study, development and conservation of the resources of Canada. Technical divisions: established within the Society to ensure adequate services to all members and to provide appropriate representation on the Board of Directors and on Committees; Computer Applications Division, Hydrotechnical Division, Environmental Division, Structural Division, Transportation Division, Construction Division.

Membership: 5,330. 4,330 Corporate Members; 1,000 Student Members. Members: persons who have the qualifications for associate membership and have held a position of professional responsibility for at least five years may be admitted as Members. Associate Members: shall be individuals who have graduated from a school of engineering recognized by the Board of Directors, or who are members of an institute or association whose membership qualifications are recognized by the Board of Directors. Every candidate for associate membership who does not qualify under the above requirements shall be required to prove that he would be eligible for membership in a provincial or territorial association or order of professional engineers in Canada. Student Members: shall be individuals who are pursuing a course of instruction in engineering at a school of engineering recognized by the Board of Directors. Professional Affiliates: shall be individuals possessing an acceptable university degree or its equivalent in a field other than engineering, and who subscribe to the objects and activities of the Society. Technical Affiliates: shall be individuals who do not possess an acceptable university degree or its equivalent, and who subscribe to the objects and activities of the Society. Honorary Members: shall be elected by the Board of Directors from individuals not eligible to be Members, who have achieved outstanding distinction by service to the profession of civil engineering. Fellows: shall be members who have attained civil engineering excellence and who have contributed actively towards the progress of their profession. Corporate Members: shall be Fellows and Members all of whom shall be in good standing.

Meetings: Annual (May).

Professional activities: National and Regional Technical Conferences, Symposia, National Lecture Tours, Student Conferences and Technical Meetings on various aspects of civil engineering in cities across Canada. Annual Awards: Gzowski Medal, Keefer Medal, Duggan Medal, A.B. Sanderson Award, J.A. Vance Award. Research Activity: Limit States Design.

Publications: Society's Journal (published through N.R.C.): Canadian Journal for Civil Engineering, bi-monthly. Editor: Roger Dorton, Structural Office, Min. of Transportation & Communications, 3501 Dufferin St., 4th Fl., Downsview, Ont. M3K 1N6. Canadian Civil Engineer, bi-monthly. Editor: Elizabeth A. Gormley, c/o Society.

275. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF CLINICAL CHEMISTS - LA SOCIETE CANADIENNE DES CLINICO-CHIMISTES.
Executive Director: Elizabeth Hooper, 4 Cataraqui St., Ste. 209, Kingston, Ont. K7K 1Z7. Tel.: (613) 547-5093. President: Dr. Arlene Crowe, Hôtel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, Ont. K7L 3H6. Term expires June 1989. President-Elect: Dr. Jean-Claude Forest, Service de biochimie, St. Francoise d'Assise Hospital, 10, rue de l'Espinay, Quebec, Que. G1L 3L5. Term expires June 1990. Secretary: Dr. W.J. Godolphin, Division of Clinical Chemistry, Pathology Dept., Vancouver General Hospital, Vancouver, B.C. V5Z 1M9. Term expires June 1989. Treasurer: Dr. J. Wesenberg.

History: Organized in 1956 as the Canadian Society for Clinical Chemistry. It was incorporated under its present name in 1965. The Society has six provincial chapters and one local section. Provincial Societies are as follows: British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario, Nova Scotia and one Local Section in Montreal. The Society has a number of active committees both standing and ad hoc: Committee on Awards; Committee on Certification; Committee on Accreditation of Training Programs for Medical Laboratory Technology; Committee on Education; Committee on Equipment; Committee on Reference Methods; Committee on Nominations; Committee on Professional Affairs; Committee on Quality Control; Committee on SI Units; Committee on Finance; Committee on Research; Committee on Pollution. The Society is a member society of the Intersociety Council of Laboratory Medicine of Canada (ICLMC); a member society of the International Federation of Clinical Chemists (IFCC) and the International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry (IUPAC). Certification Program: the Society has contributed significantly to the professional development of clinical chemistry in Canada. The efforts of the Committee on Certification have resulted in a program by means of which fully qualified clinical chemists may now be recognized. Full members of the Society are eligible to apply for certification.

Purpose: The objectives as stated in the Letters Patent, namely: to carry on, without pecuniary gain, a scientific and professional society for the advancement of the practice of clinical chemistry, to hold scientific meetings and conferences, to disseminate information of professional interest, to encourage the development and use of improved methods, apparatus and quality control, to develop and extend graduate programs and to establish affiliation and/or close liaison with other societies and groups. The operations of the Corporation may be carried on throughout Canada or elsewhere. Clinical Chemistry shall be defined as the application of chemical concepts and techniques to the prevention, detection, diagnosis, treatment and understanding of disease.
Membership: 548. 4 Honorary, 26 Emeritus, 113 Certified, 294 Full, 75 Associate and 36 Student. A person is eligible for Full membership who has graduated from a university programme approved by the Society with a master's degree or doctoral degree (includes Ph.D., D.Sc., M.D., M.B., Ch.B D.V.M.) or equivalent and is engaged in professional activity in clinical chemistry. Associate membership is awarded to people associated with the practice of clinical chemistry but who do not qualify for Full membership.
Meetings: Annual (June).
Professional activities: Extensive scientific programme including symposiums, workshops and roundtables. Scientific exhibits and posters. Ames Award (Ames Division, Miles Laboratories Ltd.) for outstanding achievement in clinical chemistry. Accreditation of teaching institutions in Canada and individual continuing education credits through Education Committee.
Publications: Clinical Biochemistry, bi-monthly. Co-Editors: Dr. David M. Goldberg, Dept. Clinical Biochemistry, Hospital for Sick Children, 555 University Ave., Toronto, Ont. M5G 1X8, and Dr. W.H.C. Walker, Dept. of Pathology, McMaster Medical Centre, 1200 Main St. W., Hamilton, Ont. L8X 4J9. CSCC NEWS, bi-monthly. Editor: Dr. Ed Young, Division of Clinical Chemistry, Henderson General Hospital, 711 Concession Street, Hamilton, Ont. L8V 1C3.

276. CANADIAN SOCIETY FOR CLINICAL INVESTIGATION - LA SOCIETE CANADIENNE DE RECHERCHES CLINIQUES.
President: Dr. Matt W. Spence, Dalhousie University, Halifax, N.S. Term expires September 1989. Secretary-Treasurer: Dr. David Rosenblatt, Montreal General Hospital, Division of Medical Genetics, Montreal, Que. Term expires September 1990. President-Elect: Dr. Emil Skamere, McGill University, Montreal, Que. Term expires September 1989.

History: In the late 1940's Dr. J.S.L. Brown realized the existing need for a forum where Canadian investigators and clinical scientists might present and discuss their work. The first recorded document of this Society is dated July 4, 1951. The Canadian Society for Clinical Investigation was incorporated under the Companies Act of Canada in 1961.
Purpose: To encourage a high standard of research and investigation directly related to the clinical sciences; to serve as a medium of exchange of ideas and knowledge relating to the clinical sciences.
Membership: 1,100 Active Members. Nominations for membership submitted by members to Council for approval.
Meetings: Annual (September).
Professional activities: Schering Travelling Fellowship, $10,000, awarded to members of the Society.
Publications: Clinical and Investigative Medicine, quarterly. Editor: Dr. Carl Goresky, Montreal General Hospital, 1650 Cedar Ave., Montreal, Que. H3G 1A4.

277. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF CLINICAL NEUROPHYSIOLOGISTS.
President: Dr. W. Becker, Calgary General Hospital, M4-022, 841 Centre Ave. E., Calgary, Alta. T2E 0A1. Term expires June 1989. Secretary-Treasurer: Dr. W. Pryse-Phillips, 300 Prince Philip Dr., St. John's, Nfld. A1B 3V6. Term expires June 1989.

History: The Society was founded in 1958 as the Canadian Society of Electroencephalographers. In 1974 the interests of the group were expanded to include the fields of electromyography and clinical neurophysiology.
Purpose: To promote the scientific and professional interests of EEG, EMG and neurophysiology through scientific meetings, in maintaining standards.
Membership: 188. Physician with specialist certification of the Royal College of Physicians of Canada or Ph.D. degree and with specified training and experience in EEG, EMG or clinical neurophysiology.
Meetings: Annual (June).
Professional activities: Jasper prize awarded annually to a trainee submitting best essay.
Publications: Canadian Journal of Neurological Sciences, quarterly. Editor: Dr. Robert G. Lee, Faculty of Medicine, University of Calgary, 2920 - 24th St. N.W., Calgary, Alta. T2N 1N4.

278. CANADIAN SOCIETY FOR COLOR IN ART, INDUSTRY AND SCIENCE.
c/o Dr. A.R. Robertson, Division of Physics, National Research Council Canada, Ottawa, Ont. K1A 0R6. Tel.: (613) 993-2504. President: David Chesterton. Term expires June 1989. Treasurer: Tom Gallienne. Secretary: Marsha Gettas.

History: Founded in 1972.
Purpose: To provide a forum for discussion of all aspects of color arising from its application in art, industry and science.
Membership: 125.

Meetings: Annual (May/June).
Publications: Newsletter, quarterly.
Editor: Dr. P.K. Kaiser, Dept. of Psychology, York University, 4700 Keele St., Downsview, Ont. M3J 1P3.

279. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF CYTOLOGY.
Dept. of Pathology, University of Alberta Hospital, Edmonton, Alta. T6G 2B7. Tel. (403) 432-6030. President: Dr. M. Lipa, Dept. of Pathology, Toronto Western Hospital, Toronto, Ont. M5T 2S8. Term expires June 1989. Secretary: Dr. G.K. Nguyen, c/o Society. Term expires June 1989.

History: Was established in 1961 as a Section of the Canadian Association of Pathologists.
Purpose: To provide a society consisting of medical and affiliate members (Technologists) concerned with the practice and development of cytology; to provide a program of continuing education and to provide an annual scientific meeting.
Membership: Approximately 426. Requirements: qualified medical practitioner or laboratory technologist qualified by CSLT Licence (or equivalent) in cytology.
Meetings: Annual (June).
Publications: Canadian Society of Cytology Bulletin, 1-2/year. Editors: V. Chen, MD, J. Magown, MD and G.K. Nguyen, MD, c/o Society. Acta Cytologia, bimonthly. Editors: G.K. Nguyen, MD, G.L. Wied, MD.

280. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF DIAGNOSTIC MEDICAL SONOGRAPHERS.
c/o Executive Director: Lois Pon, P.O. Box 2235, Orillia, Ontario. L3V 6S1. Tel.: (705) 327-2192. President: Denise Porter. Term expires April 1989. Secretary/President-Elect: Peggy Reid, 2841 Richmond Rd., Apt. 807, Ottawa, Ont. K2B 6C5. Term expires April 1990. Treasurer: Heather Elsey.

History: The Society (CSDMS) was founded in 1981 in Edmonton, Alberta, and became a corporation on September 30, 1981. There is a Board of Directors which is divided into 5 regions of the country and report on the events of that region. Region One: British Columbia and Alberta. Region Two: Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Region Three: Ontario. Region Four: Quebec, Yukon, N.W.T. Region Five: New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland. Committees include: Accreditation; Registrar; Continuing Education; CME Credit Assessment; Finance; Membership; Personnel Practices; Legislative; Affiliations; Central Planning; Fund Raising; Newsletter; Public Relations; ARDMS Affiliation. The Society has adopted as its certifying examinations, the American Registry of Diagnostic Medical Sonographers (ARDMS) examinations.
Purpose: The CSDMS is a society dedicated to the enhancement of patient care by promoting the science of diagnostic medical ultrasound. The Society has established standards of education and training and promotes continuing education for its members. The fields of ultrasound recognized by the Society include: obstetrics and gynecology, abdomen, neurosonology, opthalmology, pediatric echocardiography, adult echocardiography, vascular technology.
Membership: 679. 618 Active Members: registration with ARDMS and currently employed as a diagnostic medical sonographer. 27 Student Members: enrolled in an appropriate training program for diagnostic medical sonography. 34 Associate Members: has not met requirements for Active Membership. To maintain Active status, members must attain 30 hours of approved continuing medical eduation (CME) credits over a three year period.
Meetings: Annual (Spring).
Professional Activities: Sponsorship of Canadian representatives to participate in panel discussions at the World Federation of Ultrasound in Medicine and Biology.
Publications: Interface, quarterly. Editor: Merle Johnson.

281. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING.
2050 Mansfield St., Ste. 700, Montreal, Que. H3A 1Z2. Tel.: (514) 842-8121. Fax: 514-842-8123. President: Dr. C.W. Blackford, c/o Society. Term indefinite. Secretary: T.C. Arnold, c/o Society. Term indefinite. Treasurer: Gérald Taliana.

History: Founded in 1887. Affiliated society of The Engineering Institute of Canada.
Purpose: Promoting professional technical development through cooperation with industry, government, educational institutions and other technical societies, nationally and internationally.
Membership: 1,100. Members must have a degree in electrical engineering and professional registration in a province or territory.
Meetings: Annual (November).
Professional Activities: Offers technical programs in areas of communications, electronics, energy and power systems, computers and control systems.
Publications: Canadian Electrical Engineering Journal, 4/year. Editor: Dr. V.K. Bhargava.

282. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF ENDOCRINOLOGY AND METABOLISM.
Rm. 7823 LH, Montreal General Hospital, 1650 Cedar Ave., Montreal, Que. H3G 1A4. Tel.: (514) 934-8017. Fax: 937-2455. President: Dr. Dan Roncari, Sunnybrook Hospital, Toronto, Ont. Term expires September 1991. Secretary: Dr. Beverley E. Pearson Murphy, c/o Society. Term expires September 1991. President Elect: Dr. David Goltzman.

History: The Society was formed in 1973 to coordinate the activities of the endocrinologists in Canada, both clinical (physicians practising mainly Endocrinology) and basic scientists working in this field. The Society holds an annual meeting in conjunction with the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada.

Membership: 310. Members must a) have significant clinical experience as a specialist and consultant in endrocrinology and metabolism or b) active engagement in clinical or basic research in endocrinology and metabolism or allied sciences.
Meetings: Annual (September).
Professional Activities: Sandoz Lecture; presentation of papers dealing with endocrinology and metabolism; symposia dealing with endocrinology and metabolism.
Publications: CSEM Newsletter, 2/year. Editor: Dr. Keith Dawson.

283. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF ENVIRONMENTAL BIOLOGISTS.
P.O. Box 962, Station F, Toronto, Ont. M4Y 2N9. President: John Lilley. Term indefinite. Secretary-Treasurer: Frank Maher. Tel.: (416) 886-1581. Term indefinite.

History: Founded 1958. Formerly Canadian Society of Wildlife and Fishery Biologists. Present name adopted 1974.
Purpose: To advance the profession toward greater public service, and further the best use of our natural resources.
Membership: 500. Persons who care, or have been professionally engaged in practicing or teaching wildlife or fisheries research, or management, and who have graduated from an accredited college or university with credits obtained from courses relating to the biological sciences.
Meetings: Annual (Janurary).
Publications: Newsletter, quarterly. Editor: Geza Teleki, 410 Millwood Road, Toronto, Ont. M4S 1K2.

284. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF EXPLORATION GEOPHYSICISTS.
501, 206-7th Ave. S.W., Calgary, Alta. T2P 0W7. Tel.: (403) 262-0015. President: R.M. Lundberg, Lundberg, Goodwin & Curts, 505, 550-6th Ave. S.W., Calgary, Alta. T2P 0S2. Term expires February 1989. Secretary: Barbara McClary, Canadian Occidental Petroleum Ltd., 1500, 635-8th Ave. S.W., Calgary, Alta. T2P 3Z1. Term expires February 1989. Treasurer: Carol Fitzberg, Pulse 87, 630, 202-6th Ave. S.W., Calgary, Alta. T2P 2R9. Term expires February 1989.

History: Founded in 1949. Affiliated with the International Society of Exploration Geophysicists in 1950.
Purpose: To promote the science of geophysics, especially as it applies to exploration, in the fields of petroleum, mining and groundwater; to promote fellowship and cooperation among those persons and organizations interested in geophysical problems.
Membership: 1,900 Ordinary, 11 Honorary, 102 Corporate, 50 Student.
Meetings: Annual (February). Monthly technical meetings.
Professional activities: Scholarships awarded to students of geophysics or other related fields at any Canadian university. Meritorious Service Award. Best Paper Award.
Publications: Recorder, monthly. Editor: Richard Lowe, c/o Society. Journal, biannually. Editor: Dr. Jim Brown, c/o Society.

285. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF FORENSIC SCIENCE - LA SOCIETE CANADIENNE DES SCIENCES JUDICIAIRE.
Ste. 215, 2660 Southvale Cr., Ottawa, Ont. K1B 4W5. Tel.: (613) 731-2096. President: Patricia M. Alain. Term expires December 1989. Secretary: Catherine A. Purchase. Term indefinite. Treasurer: Glenn R. Carroll. Executive Secretary: Fredericka Monti. Term indefinite. President-Elect: Dr. Harold W. Peel.

History: Founded in 1953 as the Canadian Forensic Society. Incorporated under the Companies Act in 1963 as the Canadian Society of Forensic Science.
Purpose: To promote the study, raise the standards and enhance the stature of forensic science as a distinct discipline and, for this purpose, to seek, receive, marshall, assess, record, report and disseminate information emanating from forensic and associated studies; to conduct or assist research into forensic matters, techniques, procedures and practices and to establish or assist in the establishment of facilities therefore; to provide assistance for programmes of lay or professional education in forensic science.
Membership: 600. Open to individuals who have demonstrated an active interest in forensic science and who have exhibited the qualities of related professional competence, integrity and good moral character. Corporations, societies, or associations engaged in activities directly related to forensic science are eligible for Corporate Membership.
Meetings: Annual (September).
Professional activities: Dr. H. Ward Smith Fund. C.S.F.S. Education Award.
Publications: Canadian Society of Forensic Science Journal, quarterly. Editor: Brian T. Hodgson.

286. CANADIAN SOCIETY FOR HORTICULTURAL SCIENCE.
(En français voir: SOCIETE CANADIENNE DE SCIENCE HORTICOLE)
Plant Science Dept. NSAC, P.O. Box 550, Truro, N.S. B2N 5E3. Tel.: (902) 232-9459. Fax: 902-594-5190. Secretary: T.H. Haliburton, c/o Society. Term expires July 1989. President: Dr. Deborah Buszard, Macdonald College, McGill University, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que. Term expires July 1989.

History: Founded in 1954. Patterned after the Western Canadian Society for Horticulture which was founded in 1943. Composed of four Regional Groups: Pacific, Prairie (W.C.S.H.), Eastern, Atlantic.
Purpose: To promote and foster the science of horticulture in Canada.
Membership: 250. Types of membership are as follows: Members; Junior Members; Student Members; Retired Members; Associate Members; Honorary Members.

Meetings: Annual (July).
Publications: Proceedings, annual. Newsletter, quarterly. Editor: T. Haliburton, c/o Society.

287. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF HOSPITAL PHARMACISTS - LA SOCIETE CANADIENNE DES PHARMACIENS D'HOPITAUX.
Ste. 603, 123 Edward St., Toronto, Ont. M5G 1E2. Tel.: (416) 979-2049. President: Dr. Roy Steeves, Pharmacy, Saint John Regional Hospital, P.O. Box 2100, Saint John, N.B. E2L 4L2. Term expires August 1989. Vice-President: Bonnie Salsman, Pharmacy, Camp Hill Hospital, 1762 Robie St., Halifax, N.B. B3H 3G2. Term expires August 1989. Executive-Director: Bill Leslie. Term indefinite.

History: Formed 1947; national charter granted 1950. Society given representation on Council of Canadian Pharmaceutical Association 1956, and on Pharmacy Examining Board of Canada 1963. Branches: Alberta; British Columbia; Manitoba; New Brunswick; Nova Scotia; Ontario; Quebec; Saskatchewan.
Purpose: The Canadian Society of Hospital Pharmacists is the national voluntary organization which represents pharmacists who work in, or are associated with, pharmacy practice in organized health care settings. The mission of CSHP is to assist our members to: promote safe and effective drug therapy in organized health care settings; provide leadership to members in the area of institutional pharmacy practice; represent our members to our publics; provide membership services.
Membership: 1,774: 1,328 Active; 32 Honorary; 102 Associate; 288 Student; 24 Supporting. Honorary: shall be elected by not less than a two-thirds vote of the Council of the Society after nomination in writing by five Active Members of the Society and such membership shall be for life. Active: are hospital pharmacists who are members in good standing of a pharmacy regulatory body of any province in Canada and who can actively contribute to fowarding the goals of the Society. Associate: are persons who are graduate pharmacists who do not qualify for active membership. Student: are persons proceeding to a degree in pharmacy, or pharmacists enrolled in a post graduate program in pharmacy, or health related fields. Supporting: member having an interest in pharmaceutical endeavours but not eligible for active, associate or student membership.
Meetings: Annual (August).
Professional activities: Abbott Award, $500; Bristol Award, $500; Burroughs Wellcome Award, $500; Merck Frosst Award, $1,000; Organon Award, $500; Distinguished Service Award, $1,000; Parke Davis Award, $750; Pharmacia Award, $1,000; Roche Award, $500; Schering Award, $500; Searle Award, $500; Smith Kline & French Award, $1,000; Winthrop Award, $500; Astra Grant, $500; Baxter Travenol Executive Travel Grant, $1,200; Hoechst Lecture Grant, $750; Horner Grant, $500; Lilly Lecture, $1,000; McNeil Grant, $850; Nordic Grant, $750; Sandoz Executive Study Grant, $500; Wyeth Grant, $500.
Publications: Canadian Journal of Hospital Pharmacy, bimonthly. Editor: Susan J. Tremblay, c/o Society. Employment Opportunities Bulletin, monthly, (advertisements for positions available in hospital pharmacy throughout Canada). Pharmascope, bimonthly; CSHP newsletter to membership outlining items of current interest, monthly. List of Investigational and Emergency Drugs in Canada.

288. CANADIAN SOCIETY FOR IMMUNOLOGY.
c/o Secretary-Treasurer: Dr. C.A. Ottoway, Dept. of Medicine, St. Michaels Hospital, University of Toronto, Toronto, Ont. M5S 1A8. Tel.: (416) 978-7188. Term expires June 1989. President: E.F. Potworowski, Institut Armand Frappier, P.O. Box 100, Laval, Que. H7N 4Z3. Tel.: (514) 687-5010. Term expires June 1989.

History: Founded in 1966. It is a member of the Canadian Federation of Biological Societies (CFBS).
Purpose: To extend knowledge and application of immunology, to provide opportunities for the presentation and discussion of new developments in immunology and to facilitate the spread of information on immunology.
Membership: 330 Full. 30 Associate. Full members: persons who have conducted research, who have published papers in scientific journals and who are actively engaged in teaching or other forms of scholarship in the field of immunology. Associate members: young investigators in immunology who have not yet had the opportunity or time to satisfy the requirements for full membership. Student members: graduate students in immunology and related disciplines.
Meetings: Annual (June).
Professional activities: Sponsoring of scientific presentations at the Annual Meeting and sponsoring and organizing symposia. Immunology Award at the Annual Youth Science Fair.
Publications: Bulletin, annually. Editor: Dr. P. Shek, 1133 Sheppard Ave. W., Downsview, Ont. M3M 3B9.

289. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF INDUSTRIAL PHARMACISTS.
President: George F. Farley, Squibb Canada, 2365 Cote de Liesse, Montreal, Que. H4N 2M7. Tel.: (514) 331-7423. Term expires May 1990. Secretary-Treasurer: Jacques Bourgeau, 2650 Metivier, St. Laurent, Que. H4K 1J3. Tel.: (514) 332-3800. Term expires May 1990.

History: Originated 1964. Consists of pharmacists and non-pharmacists who are members of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association who are actively engaged in industry.
Purpose: To provide a means whereby industrial pharmacists may exchange information and ideas on professional and technical problems pertaining to the pharmaceutical industry and to enable industrial pharmacists to take an active part in Canadian pharmacy.

Membership: 200.
Meetings: Annual (Spring).

290. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF LABORATORY TECHNOLOGISTS - ASSOCIATION CANADIENNE DES TECHNOLOGISTES DE LABORATOIRE.
350 King St. E., Ste. 101, P.O. Box 830, Hamilton, Ont. L8N 3N8. Tel.: (519) 528-8642. Fax: 416-528-4968.
President: Jeanne Grimard. Term expires December 1989. Executive Director: E. Valerie Booth. Term permanent.

History: Organized 1936; incorporated 1937. Branches or affiliated societies in all ten provinces. Provincial affiliated societies: Ontario Society of Medical Technologists; British Columbia Society of Medical Technologists; Alberta Society of Medical Laboratory Technologists; Saskatchewan Society of Medical Laboratory Technologists; New Brunswick Society of Laboratory Technologists. Specialty Sections: Science Sections in Clinical Chemistry; Clinical Microbiology; Cytology; General Laboratory Forum; Hematology; Histology; and Immunohematology.
Purpose: To promote and maintain a nationally accepted standard of medical laboratory technology by which other health care professionals and the public are assured of effective and economical laboratory services. To promote, maintain and protect the professional identity and interests of the medical laboratory technologist.
Membership: 18,241 Certified Practicing; 2,547 Certified Non-Practicing; 996 Trainee; 519 Associate/Non-Certified; 48 Certified Lab Assistants. Certified Practicing: certified medical technologists currently engaged in laboratory services and currently enrolled with the C.S.L.T. Certified Non-Practicing: certified medical technologists currently enrolled with the C.S.L.T. but not currently engaged in laboratory services. Trainee Members: students currently enrolled with C.S.L.T. and attending an approved program of training in medical laboratory technology. Associate Members: personnel currently engaged in laboratory services and currently enrolled with the C.S.L.T. who have not as yet met the requirements for certification or whose application for certification and registration may be pending.
Meetings: Annual (June).
Professional activities: Annual scientific paper awards: Fisher Scientific Award in Clinical Chemistry $1,000; Becton-Dickinson Award in Microbiology $1,000; BDH Award in Cytology-Histology $1,000; American Dade/Canlab Award in Hematology $1,000; Ortho Award in Immunohematology $1,000. Founder's Fund Awards: F.J. Elliot Memorial Award - up to $500 annually to be used for advanced training courses; William J. Deadman Memorial Award - up to $500 annually to be used for refresher or advanced training courses; Ileen Kemp Parker Award - up to $500 annually to be used for training courses in Health Services Management. New Graduate Awards: Graduate of the Year; Harold Amy Memorial Award in Hematology; Immunohematology Award; Cytotechnology Award. Scholarships: Difco Scholarship in Microbiology - up to $1,000 annually. Lectureships: speakers sponsored at annual congress.
Library: Approximately 700 audio-visual programs that are available to members and subscribers, free of charge. Ten different home study courses in medical laboratory technology available.
Publications: Canadian Journal of Medical Technology, quarterly. Editor: Kurt Davis. C.S.L.T. Bulletin, 10/year. Editor: Kurt Davis.

291. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS.
(En français voir: L'ASSOCIATION DES ARCHITECTES PAYSAGISTES DU CANADA.)
P.O. Box 870, Station B, Ottawa, Ont. K1P 5P9. Tel.: (613) 232-6342.
President: Richard Gaudreau. Term expires February 1989. Executive Director: James Taylor, c/o Association. Term permanent.

History: The Society was founded in 1934 and incorporated by letter patents in 1956. The CSLA is a federation of component associations across the country.
Purpose: To better serve the general membership; to manage the affairs of a rapidly expanding profession and to support continuing activities, including coordination, information and representation.
Membership: 1,000. Requirements: completion of a degree program: B.L.A. or M.L.A., proficiency in design development, detail design, contract document, construction and contract administration, office practice and passing of a professional practice and ethics examination. This may vary with each province but membership in the CSLA is dependent upon membership in good standing in one of the provincial associations.
Meetings: Annual (Summer) plus two general meetings/year.
Professional activities: To foster good fellowship and to increase the professional efficiency of its members. To provide an authoritative source of information concerning the profession in Canada. To support the advancement of education and research in landscape architecture as an instrument of service to the public and the profession.

292. CANADIAN SOCIETY FOR MECHANICAL ENGINEERING.
700-2050 Mansfield St., Montreal, Que. H3A 1Z2. Tel.: (514) 842-8121. Fax: 514-842-8123.
President: W. Daniel Worobec, Box 235, Station M, Calgary, Alta. T2P 2H9. Term expires May 1989. Vice-President: Dr. T. Sankar, Dept. of Mechanical Engineering, Concordia University, Montreal, Que. H3G 1M8. Term expires May 1989. Executive Director: T. Christie Arnold, c/o Society.

History: The Society is a constituent society of The Engineering Institute of Canada and self-governing within the framework of the EIC Charter. It is the designated arm of The Engineering Institute of Canada, nationally and internationnally in matters pertaining to mechanical engineering. The Society was formed in co-operation with the Institution of Mechanical Engineers (U.K.) and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, in 1970, with sections in principal cities across Canada.
Purpose: To develop and maintain high standards in the theory and practice of mechanical engineering; to facilitate the acquisition of professional knowledge by its members, and its interchange among them through a program of Canadian publications and meetings; to enhance the usefulness of the profession; to collaborate with universities and other educational institutions in the advancement of mechanical engineering; to co-operate with other technical societies, nationally and internationally for the advancement of mutual interests; to promote good relations and exchange of information between those engaged in mechanical engineering and members of allied disciplines, nationally and internationally; to encourage research and the study, development and conservation of the resources of Canada. Technical Divisions, established within the Society to ensure equitable allocation of services to members and representation on the Council and on committees: Heat Transfer and Thermodynamics Division; Mechanics and Applied Mathematics Division; Production Engineering Division; Research & Development Division; Standards Division.
Membership: 1,293 Members; 1,209 Associate Members; 39 Affiliates, 240 Life Members, 1,334 Students. Members: a major interest in mechanical engineering; elegible for membership in an association or corporation of professional engineers under the laws of a province of Canada; university graduates or non-graduates in a field other than engineering with sufficent experience in mechanical engineering. Technologist: shall hold a technologist diploma form a college of applied arts and technology, or a technical institute of recognized standing and shall be engaged in work in a field of mechanical engineering. Student: matriculation into a school of engineering recognized by the Council. Student Technologist: shall have passed an examination equivalent to the final examination of a high school and shall be pursuing a course of instruction in a mechanical technology or a technical institute of recognized standing. Affiliate: individuals holding membership in another learned society, or possessing a university degree or its equivalent in a field other than mechanical engineering or who are engaged in advancing engineering knowledge. Fellows: The national executive may confer on individuals who have been Corporate Members for a period of at least ten years, in recognition of extraordinary qualifications and experience in mechanical engineering and professional distinction, the title of Fellow of the Society.
Meetings: Annual General (May).
Professional activities: National and regional conferences, symposiums, technical meetings in cities across Canada, student conferences, technical paper awards, etc.
Publications: CSME Transactions, quarterly. Editor: Dr. T.W. Forest, Dept. of Mechanical Engineering, University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alta. T6G 2G8.

293. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF MICROBIOLOGISTS - SOCIETE CANADIENNE DES MICROBIOLOGISTES. 1611 Baseline Rd., Ottawa, Ont. K2C 0B6. Tel.: (613) 723-7233. President: Dr. Louise Nelson, National Resesarch Council, Plant Biotechnology Institute, Saskatoon, Sask. S7N 0W9. Term expires June 1989. Secretary/Treasurer: Dr. R. Cam Wyndham, Dept. of Biology, Carleton University, Environmental Laboratories, Rm. 212, Ottawa, Ont. K1S 5B6. Term expires June 1989.

History: Organized 1951; incorporated 1958. Branches: Ottawa Valley; Maritimes; Central Ontario; Southwestern Ontario; Alberta. Affiliate: la Société de microbiologie de la province de Québec. Sections: Ecology and Epidemiology; Genetics and Molecular Biology; Infections and Immunity; Microbial Physiology; Morphology and Structure; Virology. Committees: Manpower and Placement; Publications Advisory; Science Policy; Status of Women in C.S.M.; Teaching; Travelling Lectureships.
Purpose: To promote the advancement of microbiology in all its aspects and to facilitate the exchange of ideas between microbiologists.
Membership: 750 Honorary, Ordinary, Student, Emeritus. Honorary: any person who has made a distinctive contribution to microbiology (limited to 2% of ordinary membership). Ordinary: any person interested in the study of microbiology, sponsored by one member and subject to approval by membership committee. Student: any bona fide undergraduate or graduate student interested in microbiology, certified by supervisor, sponsored by one member and subject to approval by membership committee.
Meetings: Annual (June).
Professional activities: C.S.M. Award for outstanding contribution to microbiology. CSM Graduate Student Presentation Award.
Publications: C.S.M. Newsletter-Bulletin de Nouvelles, 3/year. Editor: D. McLeod, Virus Laboratory, LCDC, Health and Welfare Canada, Tunney's Pasture, Ottawa, Ont. K1A 0L2. CSM Programme & Abstracts, annually.

294. CANADIAN SOCIETY FOR NONDESTRUCTIVE TESTING INC. - SOCIETE CANADIENNE DES ESSAIS NON DESTRUCTIFS INC. 6470 Northam Dr., Mississauga, Ont. L4V 1H9. Tel.: (416) 676-0785. Telex: 06-968839. Fax: 416-673-9255. President: J. Robert Szucs, Base Air Canada, Aeroport International de Montreal, Dorval, Que. H4Y 1C2. Term expires December 1989. Secretary: Robert C. McNeill, Ontario Hydro, Darlington Generating Station, P.O. Box

1000, Bowmanville, Ont. L1C 3W2. Term expires December 1989. Vice-President: Wade R. Mayo, Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., Reactor Development, Components & Instrumentation Div., Chalk River Nuclear Labs., Chalk River, Ont. K0J 1J0. Term expires December 1989.

History: The first NDT organization in North America was founded in 1941 and known as the American Industrial X-Ray and Radium Society. The Society changed its name to the Society for Nondestructive Testing Inc. (SNT) in 1946, and then to the American Society for Nondestructive Testing Inc. (ASNT) in 1967. 1953 saw the founding, in Toronto, of the first Canadian chapter of the SNT, Ontario, and 1954 saw the founding, in Montreal, of the second Canadian chapter of the SNT, Eastern Canada. In 1964, the Canadian Council for Nondestruvtive Testing (CCNDT) was founded in response to international circles requesting a Canadian site for the Fifth International Conference for Nondestructive Testing. The conference was held in Montreal in 1967. Desirous of providing a single national NDT body and voice in Canada, the CCNDT and the Canadian chapters of the ASNT consented in 1970 to found and incorporate the Canadian Society for Nondestructive Testing Inc./Société canadienne des esssais nondestructifs, Inc. (CSNDT/SCEND).
Purpose: To advance scientific, engineering, and technical knowledge in the field of nondestructive testing; to gather and disseminate information relating to nondestructive testing useful to the individual and beneficial to the general public; to promote nondestructive testing through courses of instruction, lectures, meetings, publications, conferences and other means.
Membership: 1,500 technicians, technologists, engineers, educators, scientists, managers, R&D personnel and others in the fields of nondestructive testing and related technologies.
Meetings: Annual (March/April). Four chapter meetings per year. Four national meetings per year.
Professional Activities: The W.A. Havercroft Award, established in 1977, is given to members who have made an outstanding contribution towards NDT in Canada, usually a lifetime achievement. The Technical Achievement Award, established in 1983, is given to an author who has made an outstanding written and published technical contribution towards NDT in Canada. Fellow Awards are given to 10 year members who have made a significant contribution towards NDT in Canada. The Society sponsors provincial, national and international NDT evening courses and seminars.
Library: Several hundred volumes on nondestructive testing, open to members.
Publications: CSNDT Journal, 6/year. Editor: H. Dieter Hanrath. Technical books, manuals, guides, audio-visual, conference proceedings and publications about NDT -- list available on request.

295. CANADIAN SOCIETY FOR NUTRITIONAL SCIENCES.
(En français voir: SOCIETE CANADIENNE DES SCIENCES DE LA NUTRITION)
c/o Canadian Federation of Biological Societies, 575 King Edward Ave., Ottawa, Ont. K1N 7N5. Tel.: (613) 234-9555. President: Dr. Sheila Innis, Dept. of Pediatrics, The Research Centre, 950 W. 28th Ave., Vancouver, B.C. V5Z 4H4. Term expires June 1989. Vice-President: Dr. Tom Clandinin, Dept. of Foods and Nutrition, University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alta. T6G 2M8. Term expires June 1989. Secretary: Dr. Dennis Fitzpatrick, Dept. of Foods and Nutrition, University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Man. R3T 2N2. Term expires June 1991.

History: Founded October 8, 1957, at the University of Ottawa; first meeting held June 8, 1958, at Queen's University. Affiliated with Canadian Federation of Biological Societies in 1965.
Purpose: To extend knowledge of nutrition by the encouragement of research; to provide opportunities for the presentation and discussion of reports of research; to promote application of nutrition knowledge; to facilitate interchange of nutrition information; to represent the interests of members.
Membership: 400. Emeritus; Ordinary; Student. Ordinary members hold a bachelor's degree or equivalent and, for at least three years subsequent to graduation, have conducted meritorious research in nutrition or have been engaged in the teaching of nutrition in a recognized university or college or in a position of responsibility for the scientific aspects of the development and administration of nutrition programmes. Student members hold bachelor's degree or equivalent and are enrolled in a full-time program of nutritionally oriented study leading to a graduate degree or a diploma from a recognized University.
Meetings: Annual (June).
Professional activities: Borden Award; Earle Willard McHenry Award; Wyeth Graduate Student Award of CSNS; Hoffman La Roche Lecture; CSNS Symposium.
Publications: Nutrition Forum de nutrition, semi-annually. Editor: Dr. Vivian Bruce, Dept. of Foods and Nutrition, University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Man. R3T 2N2.

296. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF ORTHOPAEDIC TECHNOLOGISTS - LA SOCIETE CANADIENNE DES TECHNOLOGISTES EN ORTHOPEDIE.
4433 Sheppard Ave. E., Ste. 200, Agincourt, Ont. M1S 1V3. Tel.: (416) 292-0687. President: Martin McPolin. Term expires May 1990. Secretary: Jane Villadiego. Term expires May 1990. Treasurer: Guy Chartrand. Vice-President: John Galloway.

History: Formed from a meeting in Toronto on April 21, 1972. A steering committee of five members was formed and charged with the responsibility of laying the groundwork for a national society. The Society became incorporated under Federal Letters Patent on February 25, 1974, as a non-profit Society.

Purpose: To promote and develop training programmes for those persons interested in the profession of orthopaedic technology; to promote and maintain such professional standards as will make a constructive contribution to the science of medicine and the community; to encourage uniform training programmes and uniform examinations throughout Canada and work for the highest possible standards for the purpose of providing well qualified orthopaedic technologists for hospitals and medical clinics; to promote and facilitate cooperation between orthopaedic technologists and the medical profession, hospitals, related companies and other agencies interested in orthopaedic technology.
Membership: 275. One year of full-time employment in a Hospital Fracture Room is required for membership.
Meetings: Annual (May).
Publications: BodyCast, 4/year. Editor: Martin F.J. McPolin. NewsCast, 4/year. Editor: Martin F.J. McPolin.

297. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF OTOLARYNGOLOGY - HEAD & NECK SURGERY.
4953 Dundas St. W., Ste. 103, Islington, Ont. M9A 1B6. Tel.: (416) 233-6034. President: Dr. Peter Alberti. Term expires May 1989. Secretary: Dr. David Ellis, Toronto Western Hospital, Rm. 315, 399 Bathurst St., Toronto, Ont. M5T 2S8. Term expires May 1989. Treasurer: Dr. Conrad Lebrun, 1081 Carling Ave., #402, Ottawa, Ont. K1Y 4G2.

History: Founded in 1947.
Purpose: To study otolaryngological problems in relation to public health and welfare; to establish friendly relations between its members; to facilitate for its members the means of acquiring fuller knowledge of their profession by meetings and publications relative to the science, practice and teaching of otolaryngology; to foster and maintain the closest harmony and cooperation with other members of the medical profession; to advise the Canadian Medical Association in regard to the medico-political and economic matters of the society; to encourage through bursaries or other form of grant support original work of research in otolaryngology.
Membership: 584 fellows. Active Fellow: Graduation in medicine of a medical school approved by Council; member of the Canadian Medical Association or L'Association des Médecins de Langue Française du Canada or another approved national medical organization in good standing; certification of fellowship of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada or an equivalent qualification approved by Council of the Society. Emeritus Fellow: An Active Fellow who after fifteen years or more of membership in the Society has reached the age of 65, or having retired from active practice requests from the secretary such change in status. Honorary Fellow: An individual in any field of scientific endeavour who through their work has made a notable contribution to otolaryngology.
Meetings: Annual (June).
Professional activities: Annual Scientific Meeting; Residents Competition; Hodge Award-Research.
Publications: Journal of Otolaryngology, 6 issues per year. Editor: Dr. Derek Birt, Sunnybrook Medical Centre, Ent. Dept., 2075 Bayview Ave., Toronto, Ont. M4N 3M6.

298. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF PETROLEUM GEOLOGISTS.
505, 206-7th Ave. S.W., Calgary, Alta. T2P 0W7. Tel.: (403) 264-5610. President: Michael P. Cecile, Geological Survey of Canada, 3303-33rd St. N.W., Calgary, Alta. T2L 2A7. Term expires February 1989. Secretary: Harry T. Crabtree, North Canadian Oils Ltd., 700, 112-4th Ave. S.W., Calgary, Alta. T2P 4B2. Term expires February 1989. Vice President: Bill May, Sunray Resources Inc., 1180, 700-4th Ave. S.W., Calgary, Alta. T2P 3J4. Term expires February 1989.

History: Formed 1928, and registered under the Societies Act in 1956.
Purpose: To promote the science of geology; to foster the spirit of scientific research; to encourage cooperation; to disseminate knowledge of the science.
Membership: 4,000 Honorary, Active, Associate, Student, Corporate. Graduate of a university with major in geology or related earth science who is engaged in the work of geology, petroleum exploration or related research.
Meetings: Annual (February).
Professional activities: Annual Honorary Address; Medal of Merit; Link Award; Graduate Award; Undergraduate Award; field trips; Distinguished Lecture Tour; Core Conference; Annual Student-Industry Field Trip.
Publications: Bulletin of Canadian Petroleum Geology, quarterly. Editor: James Dixon, Geological Survey of Canada, 3303 - 33 Street N.W., Calgary, Alta. T2L 2A7. C.S.P.G. Reservoir, monthly. Editor: Hans Speilman. Memoirs 1-10.

299. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF PLANT PHYSIOLOGISTS - LA SOCIETE CANADIENNE DE PHYSIOLOGIE VEGETALE.
President: Dr. J. Derek Bewley, Chairman, Dept. of Botany, University of Guelph, Guelph, Ont. N1G 2W1. Term expires July 1989. Secretary: Dr. John Hoddinott, Dept. of Botany, University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alta. T6G 2E9. Term expires July 1989. Treasurer: Dr. Carol A. Peterson, Dept. of Biology, University of Waterloo, Waterloo, Ont. N2L 3G1. Term expires July 1990.

History: Inaugurated in 1958 at Saskatoon from a series of annual research conferences on plant physiology sponsored by the National Research Council of Canada.

Purpose: To encourage research and education in the field of plant physiology and its applications.
Membership: 350. A scientific interest in plant physiology encouraged.
Meetings: Annual (Summer). Regional: December-East, February-West.
Professional activities: The Canadian Society of Plant Physiologists Gold Medal; The C.D. Nelson Award to the best young scientist; Award for Excellence in Tree Physiology; President's Prize for Best Student Presentation at the Annual Meeting.
Publications: Proceedings of the Canadian Society of Plant Physiologists, annual. Editor: Secretary of the Society.

300. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF PLASTIC SURGEONS - LA SOCIETE CANADIENNE DES CHIRURGIENS PLASTIQUES.
1333 Sheppard Ave. E., Ste. 336, Willowdale, Ont. M2J 1V1. Tel.: (416) 494-7422. President: Dr. Robert D. Midgley, 342 Grafton St., Charlottetown, P.E.I. C1A 1L8. Term expires June 1989. Professional activities: Award for submission of technical paper.
Publications: CSSE Contact, bimonthly. Editor: Peter Fletcher, Executive Manager, c/o Society.

305. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF SOIL SCIENCE.
Tel.: (519) 767-3581. Fax: 519-767-3635. c/o Secretary: C.J. Acton, Agriculture Canada, Guelph Agriculture Centre, P.O. Box 1030, Guelph, Ont. N1H 6N1. Term expires July 1990. President: Dr. D.F. Acton, Agriculture Canada, Saskatchewan Institute of Pedology, University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, Sask. S7N 0W0. Term expires July 1989. President-Elect: Dr. Helmut Krause, Dept. of Forest Resources, University of New Brunswick, Fredericton, N.B. E3B 5A3. Term expires July 1990.

History: Organized 1955 by Canadian soil scientists, membership is open to those with a post-secondary school education and who have a professional interest in soil science. Affiliated with the Agricultural Institute of Canada and the International Society of Soil Science.
Purpose: To promote contacts amongst members and afford a central agency for other contacts with national and international groups or individuals with interests in soil science.
Membership: 450 Full Members. Requirements for membership: post secondary school education and a professional interest in soil science.
Meetings: Annual (July/August).
Professional activities: Fellowship awards to Members. Newsletter published. Professional (not journal) publications produced and distributed; may elect fellows; may make awards; may support scholarships.
Publications: Canadian Journal of Soil Science, quarterly. Editor: Dr. W. Pettapiece, Agriculture Canada, 6th Fl., Terrace Plaza Tower, 4445 Calgary Trail S, Edmonton, Alta. T6H 5C3.

306. CANADIAN SOCIETY FOR TROPICAL MEDICINE & INTERNATIONAL HEALTH.
1565 Carling Avenue, Ste. 400, Ottawa, Ont. K1Z 8R1. Tel. (613) 725-3769. Telex: 053-3841. President: Dr. J. Losos, Director, Bureau of Communicable Disease Epidemiology, LCDC Bldg., Tunney's Pasture, Ottawa, Ont. K1A 0L2. Term expires June 1989. Secretary: Dr. J. Dick MacLean, Director, McGill Centre for Tropical Disease, McGill University, Montreal, Que. H3G 1A4. Term expires June 1989. President-Elect: Dr. P. Tugwell, McMaster University, 1200 Main St. W., Hamilton, Ont. L8S 4J9. Term expires June 1989.

History: First organized in 1973 as a separate division of the Canadian Public Halth Association and incorporated under Canadian Federal Charter in 1977.
Purpose: To educate practicing Canadian public health professionals; exchange knowledge; provide information in the field of tropical medicine and international health in order to safeguard the health of Canadians travelling and serving abroad and to treat these diseases in the Canadian environment.

Membership: 400. Anyone with an interest in the goals and work of tropical medicine and international health may become a member.
Meetings: Annual (June).
Professional Activities: International health exchange program with developing countries; educational grants for Canadians interested in international health.
Publications: Synergy, quarterly. Editor: Marey Briogeo, International Division, AUCC, 151 Slater St., Ottawa, Ont. K1P 5N1.

307. CANADIAN SOCIETY OF ZOOLOGISTS.
c/o Zoology Division, National Museum of Natural Sciences, P.O. Box 3443, Station D, Ottawa, Ont. K1P 6P4. Tel.: (613) 954-2584. President: Dr. Melvin Weisbart, Dept. of Biology, St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, N.S. B2G 1C0. Term expires May 1989. Secretary: Dr. George G. Gibson, c/o Society. Term expires May 1989. Vice-President: Dr. Geoffrey G.E. Scudder, Dept. of Zoology, University of British Columbia, 2075 Wesbrook Pl., Vancouver, B.C. V6T 1W5. Term expires May 1989.

History: The Canadian Society of Zoologists was founded in 1961. It is the only scientific society in Canada whose membership includes scientists working in all areas of zoology, from protozoology to mammalogy, from molecular biology to ecology.
Purpose: To promote the advancement of zoology in all its aspects; to facilitate the interchange of ideas between zoologists; and to ensure that the work of zoologists in Canada is understood and adequately represented in the development of science in Canada.
Membership: 1,000. Interest in the field of zoology. Ordinary Members must be sponsored by two Members, Student Members by one of their professors.
Meetings: Annual (May).
Publications: Bulletin, 4/year. Editor: Dr. Barbara M. MacKinnon, Dept. of Biology, University of New Brunswick, Fredericton, N.B. E3B 6E1.

311. CANADIAN STEEL INDUSTRY RESEARCH ASSOCIATION (CSIRA) - ASSOCIATION POUR LA RECHERCHE DANS L'INDUSTRIE SIDERURGIQUE CANADIENNE (ARISC).

Ste. 1400, 1 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont. M5E 1J9. Tel.: (416) 363-7261. Telex: 065-24693. Chairman: R. Hadden. Vice-Chairman: Peter Stubbs. Technical Director: F.J. Pearce.

History: Most Canadian steel firms recognized the need for an intra-industry organization to deal with common research problems and to be an effective communication interface with governments and universities. This recognition culminated in the formation on June 1, 1978, of the Canadian Steel Industry Research Association/Association pour la Recherche dans l'Industrie Sidérurgique canadienne (CSIRA/ARISC).
Purpose: Canadian Governments: provide an industry viewpoint on the orientation of iron and steel research programs conducted by government laboratories and agencies; assist and encourage government laboratory and agency heads to transfer technical information to Association members; provide input regarding new or proposed relevant legislation; assist member companies in dealing with the political and administrative branches of governments on research-related matters. Association Member Companies: identify the needs for technological improvement within the Canadian steel industry; provide a forum for technical interchange; promote the formation of research task groups. Institutions: guide and encourage research in universities and colleges towards the needs of the Canadian steel industry; encourage the members of the Association, either independently or collectively, to sponsor research at universities and colleges; influence the curriculum of universities, colleges and technical schools to meet the needs of the Canadian steel industry for qualified personnel. Other Associations: provide liaison with other national and international associations.
Membership: Member Companies: the Algoma Steel Corp. Ltd.; Atlas Steel Company, a division of Rio Algom Ltd.; Burlington Steel, a division of Slater Steel Industries Ltd.; Dofasco Inc.; Interprovincial Steel & Pipe Corp. Ltd.; Ivaco Industries Ltd.; Lake Ontario Steel Co. Ltd.; Manitoba Rolling Mills (Canada) Ltd. a division of Dominion Bridge Co. Ltd.; Sidbec-Dosco; Stelco Technology Centre; Courtice Steel Ltd., Cambridge, Ont. and Western Canada Steel Ltd., Vancouver. Membership in the Association is limited to Canadian-based steel firms having both melting and rolling facilities. In addition, representatives of the Department of Regional Industrial Expansion, McGill (Dept. of Mining & Metallurgaical Engineering), National Research Council (Industrial Materials Research Institute) and of CANMET will be non-voting associate members.

368. FEDERATION OF MEDICAL WOMEN OF CANADA.
106, 1815 Alta Vista Dr., Ottawa, Ont. K1G 3Y6. Tel.: (613) 731-1026.
President: Dr. Christine Davies, 28 King St., Ste. 3B, St. John, N.B. E2L 1G3. Term expires May 1989. Treasurer: Dr. Michele Brill-Edwards, 1747 Dunkirk Cr., Ottawa, Ont. K1H 5T3.

History: The Federation of Medical Women of Canada was founded at the Glebe Collegiate Institute in Ottawa in 1924, with seven founding members, and came into being following an offer to affiliate with the British Federation of Medical Women. The first constitution was drawn up in 1925 and the first annual meeting was held in Victoria, B.C. in 1926. Affiliation with the British Federation of Medical Women was temporary; the Canadian Federation for many years has been an independent member of the Medical Women's International Association. In 1964, the Federation's application for affiliate status was accepted by the Canadian Medical Association, and the Federation was granted a seat on the General Council of CMA. That year the Central office of the Federation was established at CMA House, but was subsequently relocated in close proximity to CMA House. The time and venue of the Federation Annual Meeting are the same as those of the CMA Annual Meeting.
Purpose: To promote interests of medical women in Canada; to aid and encourage pre-medical, medical and post-graduate medical women students; to cooperate with the Canadian Medical Association and the Medical Women's International Association; to establish and administer scholarship and loan funds.
Membership: 650. Membership is open to women graduates of any recognized medical school and to undergraduates of Canadian medical schools.
Meetings: Annual (Spring/Summer).
Publications: Newsletter, quarterly. Editor. Dr. Frances Rosenberg.

369. FEDERATION QUEBECOISE DES MASSEURS ET MASSOTHERAPEUTES, INC.
2103, boul. Rosemont, Montréal, Qué. H2G 1T3. Tél.: (514) 721-6222.
Présidente: Jean Baillargeon. Le mandat se termine en juin 1989.

Historique: Incorporée le 8 mars 1983 sous le nom de l'Association des Masseurs de Montréal (3e partie de la loi sur les compagnies de la province de Québec); à partir du 5 septembre 1985, elle prend son nouveau nom, plus représentatif.
Objectifs: Regrouper les masseurs et massothérapeutes de la province afin de promouvoir le massage et la massothérapie dans l'interêt du public; valoriser la profession; assurer une certaine compétence et une certaine uniformisation de la formation; agir comme groupe de pression.
Membres: 300.
Réunions: Annuelle (juin).

Dept. of Earth Sciences, Memorial University of Newfoundland, St. John's, Nfld. A1B 3X5. Tel.: (709) 737-7660. President: J.M. Hamilton, Cominco Ltd., Western Exploration, Ste. 700, 409 Granville St., Vancouver, B.C. V6C 1T2. Term expires May 1989. Secretary: R.F. Blackwood, Newfoundland Dept. of Mines, P.O. Box 4750, St. John's, Nfld. A1C 5T7. Term indefinite. Vice-President: D.J. Tempelman Kluit, Geological Survey of Canada, 4th Fl., 100 W. Pender St., Vancouver, B.C. V6B 1R8. Term expires May 1989. Treasurer: J.G. Malpas, c/o Association. Term expires May 1989.

History: Founded 1947. Devoted to the advancement and promotion of earth sciences and their understanding by both professional earth scientists and laymen. Sections and Divisions - regional sections and discipline divisions have been organized to provide more varied and local activities at all levels. Cordilleran, Edmonton, Newfoundland, Pacific and Winnipeg Sections have been established. Geophysics, Environmental Earth Sciences, Mineral Deposits, Paleontology, Precambrian, Structural and Tectonics, Martine Geosciences and Volcanology Divisions have also been established. The Atlantic Geoscience Society, the Toronto Geological Discussion Group, the Canadian Geophysical Union, the Canadian Society of Petroleum Geologists and the Canadian Quaternary Association are Associated Societies.
Purpose: To advance the science of geology and to promote a better understanding thereof throughout Canada.
Membership: 3,000 Fellows, Associate, Retired Fellows, Honorary Fellows, Life Fellows, Corporate Members. Fellows: persons holding a bachelor's degree with a major in geology or some closely related field, and who are engaged in the practice, research or teaching therein. A person with such qualifications but who in the opinion of Council is of recognized professional standing as an earth scientist may be admitted as a Fellow. Associates: geologists or other earth scientists in training without the experience required of a Fellow or other scientists who in the opinion of Council do not qualify for fellowship, but who are interested directly or indirectly in the advancement of geology and other forms of earth science. Honorary: persons who have distinguished themselves by their technical or scientific attainments or persons eminent in the development of the mineral industry. Corporate: available to companies, institutions or corporate bodies interested in advancing the aims of the Association. Such members play a vital role in the growth and activities of the Association.
Meetings: Annual (May).
Professional activities: The Association, through its Education Committee, is actively engaged in fostering the teaching of earth sciences in Canadian high schools. Major briefs have been prepared and resource centres of information in earth sciences for high school teachers are being established. Cash prizes are awarded annually at the National Science Fair for the best geological exhibits. The GAC's major contribution to research is the organization of annual and special meetings of earth scientists, and the publication of a wide variety of scientific papers. The Association assisted in organizing the Canadian Geological Foundation which receives major contributions and provides funds for the encouragement of the geological sciences. Through memberships in the Canadian Geoscience Council, GAC maintains a dialogue with the Federal Government. Annually, the GAC awards its highest honour, the Logan Medal, to a scientist who has made distinguished contributions to the earth sciences. The Past-Presidents's Medal was instituted in 1973 for outstanding work in the geosciences by young earth scientists. The J. Willis Ambrose medal is awarded to an individual who has rendered distinguished service to the earth sciences in Canada, through outstanding accomplishments in one or more of the following realms: education; research; management and administration; promotion; and institutional, professional or society affairs.

Publications: Geoscience Canada; a quarterly journal acting as a forum for current geoscience problems. Editor: A.D. Miall, Dept. of Geology, University of Toronto, Toronto, Ont. M5S 1A1. Special papers, annually. Editor varies. Newsletter Geolog, 5/year. Editors: R.M. Easton, M.N. Easton, Ontario Geological Survey, 77 Grenville St., Room 910, Toronto, Ont. M5S 1B3. 377. INSTITUT AERONAUTIQUE ET SPATIAL DU CANADA.
(In English see: CANADIAN AERONAUTICS AND SPACE INSTITUTE.)
222, rue Somerset o., Pièce 601, Ottawa, Ont. K2P 2G3. Tél.: (613) 234-0191. Président: B. Eggleston, Boeing Canada, Division deHavilland, blvd. Garrett, Downsview, Ont. M3K 1Y5. Le mandat se termine en mai 1989. Directeur exécutif: A.J.S. Timmins, a/s Institut. Mandat de durée indéterminée. Secrétaire: M. Rainboth.

Historique: Il s'agit d'un organisme scientifique et technique à but non lucratif voué à l'avancement de l'art, de la science et de l'ingénierie dans les domaines de l'aéronautique ainsi que dans les techniques connexes et leurs applications. Il est constitué d'un siège social et d'un secrétariat permanent à Ottawa, de sections régionales dans diverses villes du Canada, de sections spécialisées et d'associations constituantes. L'Institut est dirigé par un Conseil dont la majorité des membres sont élus par les membres votants des sections régionales. Chacune de celles-ci élit au moins un représentant au Conseil. Les sections spécialisées et les associations constituantes se font représenter par leur président. Le Conseil élit, parmi les doyens de l'Institut, un nombre déterminé de conseillers qui se choisissent un président entre eux. Alors que les sections régionales s'occupent des membres de leur localité respective, les sections spécialisées réunissent les membres de quelque région que ce soit qui se spécialise dans des domaines directement reliés à l'aéronautique et à l'astronautique notamment dans les essais en vol, l'astronautique, les avions légers de technologie avancée, simulation et formation etc. Les associations constituantes, pour leur part, regroupent les membres qui se spécialisent dans les techniques connexes et leurs applications, notamment dans la navigation, la télédétection, le coussin d'air, la médicine pour aviation etc. Les membres actuels ou potentiels peuvent, avec l'approbation du Conseil, former de nouvelles sections régionales ou spécialisées ou des associations constituantes. Pour la formation d'une nouvelle section régionale, au moins vingt membres de l'Institut doivent résider dans le secteur en question et pouvoir participer à sa gestion. La formation d'une nouvelle section spécialisée ou association constituante est possible lorqu'un groupe de membres actuels ou potentiels désirent mettre sur pied un programme d'échanges scientifiques et techniques pertinent. Chaque section régionale ou spécialisée ou association est régie par un comité de direction élu par ses membres.

Objectifs: Pou permettre l'avancement de l'art, de la science et de l'ingénierie dans les domaines de l'aéronautique, de l'astronautique ainsi que dans les techniques connexes et leurs applications.
Membres: 1 500. Doit étudier à temps plein dans une université ou un institut de technologie, et suivre des cours reconnus par le Conseil ou effectuer un travail de recherche reconnu par le Conseil.
Réunions: Annuelle (mai).

378. INSTITUT CANADIEN DES ACTUAIRES.
(In English see: CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF ACTUARIES)
Constitution Square, 360 Albert St., Ste. 405, Ottawa, Ont. K1R 7X7. Tél.: (613) 236-8196. Président: Jacques Cloutier, a/s Institut. Le mandat se termine en juin 1989. Directeur Général: Brian Wooding, a/s Institut. Le mandat est indeterminé.

Historique: 1907: fondation de l'Actuaries Club; 1946: cet organisme devient l'Assocciation canadienne des Actuaires; 1965: en s'incorporant, l'association devient l'Institut Canadien des Actuaires.
Objectifs: a) Faire avancer et progresser la science actuarielle; b) favoriser l'application de la science actuarielle à l'activité humaine; c) établir, favoriser et maintenir un niveau élevé de compétence et de professionnalisme actuariel.
Membres: Fellows - 1,425; Etudiants - 600; Correspondants - 60; Autres - 16. Fellow de la Society of Actuaries, Institute of Actuaries, Faculty of Actuaries ou Casualty Actuarial Society.
Réunions: Annuelle (juin).
Publications: Délibérations, 3/année. Rédacteur: M.W. Chambers, a/s Institut.

379. INSTITUT CANADIEN DE SCIENCE ET TECHNOLOGIE ALIMENTAIRES.
(In English see: CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF FOOD SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY)
309-1335 Carling Ave., Ottawa, Ont. K1Z 8N8. Tél.: (613) 724-7752. Fax: 613-724-7754. Président: Henriot M. Sabourin. Le mandat se termine en juin 1989. Directeur-Executif: Liette Boucher.

Historique: Des associations de spécialistes en alimentations, formés à Winnipeg, Montréal et Toronto entre 1947 et 1951 se sont fusionnés en 1951 pour devenir la "Canadian Food Technologists Association", constituée le 20 janvier 1959, par lettres patentes. L'organisme devint alors le "Canadian Intitute of Food Technology". De nouvelles patentes, émises le 3 juillet 1971, en font l'Institut canadien de science et technologie alimentaires.
Objectifs: Promouvoir la science et la technologie alimentaires; encourager la recherche dans les problè de science et de technologie et fournir les moyens et faire connaître les résultats de ces recherches et d'en discuter; encourager et fournir des façons d'échanger librement des renseignements et des idées entre les scientifiques et les technologues de l'alimentation; faire connaître le rôle des personnes activement engagées à la direction technique des opérations dans le secteur des sciences et de la technologie alimentaires; favoriser et stimuler l'enseignement dans le secteur des sciences et de la technologie alimentaires.

Membres: 2 500 Professionnels, Associés, Etudiants, Retraités, Emérites, Honoraires à vie. Professionnel - une personne engagée activement dans la technologie alimentaire depuis au moins deux ans et détentrice d'un baccalauréat en sciences ou l'équivalent, ou, le détenteur d'une maîtrise ou d'un doctorat en sciences, ou, une personne qui a accumulé un minimum de sept années d'expérience en technologie alimentaire et qui détient un poste responsable à cet égard, une personne non activement engagée en technologie alimentaire, mais qui de l'avis du comité de classification possède une expérience passée et une formation spécialisée acceptables.
Réunions: Annuelle (mai/juin).
Activités professionnelle: Distinctions honorifiques - W.J. Eva, G.R. Maybee et Institut.
Publications: Journal de l'Institut canadien de science et technologie alimentaire, 5/année. Directory (membres seulement).
Rédactrice: Carol Mueller, a/s Institut.

380. INSTITUT DE CHIMIE DU CANADA.
(In English see: CHEMICAL INSTITUTE OF CANADA)
1785, prom. Alta Vista, Ottawa, Ont. K1G 3Y6. Tél.: (613) 526-4652.
Président: Dr. G.G.S. Dutton, F.C.I.C., Dept. of Chemistry, University of British Columbia, Vancouver, B.C. V6T 1Y6. Le mandat se termine en juin 1989.
Secrétaire: Dr. Anne E. Alper, a/s l'Institut. Mandat de duré indéterminé.
Vice Président: G.H. Thomson, F.C.I.C., Esso Petroleum Canada, 55 St. Clair Ave. W, Toronto, Ont. M4V 2Y7. Le mandat se termine en juin 1989.

Historique: Organisme national scientifique et professionnel des chimistes et des ingénieurs chimistes. Il fonctionne en vertu d'une charte fédérale octroyée en 1945 pour continuer et accroître les activités effectuées jadis par le Canadian Institute of Chemistry, la Society of Chemical Industry, et la Canadian Chemical Association. Son histoire remonte ainsi à 1922. Il existe actuellement vingt-six sections locales, cinquante-trois chapitres étudiants, quinze divisions spécialisées et trois sociétés constituantes: la Société canadienne de technologie chimique et la Société canadienne du génie chimique.
Objectifs: Maintenir chaque branche de la chimie et du génie chimique à la place qui lui revient parmi les autres sciences et professions; encourager la recherche originale, instaurer et maintenir des normes professionnelles élevées et mettre en valeur auprès du public l'utilité de notre profession.
Membres: 9 324: 10 membres honoraires; 1 083 membres titulaires; 6 420 membres; 1 803 membres associés; 1 248 membres étudiants. 411. MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS SOCIETY OF CANADA.
(En français voir: SOCIETE CANADIENNE DE LA SCLEROSE EN PLAQUES.)
250 Bloor St. E., Ste. 820, Toronto, Ont. M4W 3P9. Tel.: (416) 922-6065. President: Alexander R. Aird. Term expires December 1988. Secretary: Jessie H. Lang. Term expires December 1988. Treasurer: A. Jeremy Arnold. Term expires December 1988.

History: The first multiple sclerosis society in the world, the National Multiple Sclerosis Society in the U.S. began in 1946 following the tremendous response to a classified advertisement in the New York Times. After contact with the American organization, a small group of dedicated volunteers in Montreal founded the Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada in 1948. Support of MS research in Canada was an immediate concern and the first grant to medical research was awarded in 1949. Since that time, the Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada has allocated more than $17 million to MS research. Headquarters for the Society remained in Montreal until the mid-1960's when it moved to Toronto. Other advances came with the establishing of regional divisions. The Ontario Division began operation in 1963, the Prairie Division in 1968, Quebec and Atlantic Divisions in 1974 and British Columbia Division in 1975. In early 1980, the Prairie Division was split into three divisions based on the provincial boundaries of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. The International Federation of Multiple Sclerosis Societies, of which the Canadian MS Society is a charter member, was established in 1967. The IFMSS includes 30 independent societies in Europe, Australia, Africa and the Far East, as well as in the Americas. The Federation's major objectives are to stimulate greater world-wide interest of the medical and scientific community in MS research, to further the exchange of information on MS patient care and services around the world, and to generate increased awareness of MS among the general public.
Purpose: To stimulate and support research efforts in multiple sclerosis and allied diseases and create a fund by public and private contributions; to co-ordinate and promote research efforts in such diseases in this country and abroad; to gather statistics on such diseases on prevalence and geographic distribution; to act as a clearinghouse for information on such diseases; to educate the public and health professionals on all aspects of such diseases; to provide aid and assistance to people afflicted with such diseases; to make payments out of the Corporation's funds for all such purposes.
Membership: Presently 25,000 members; membership is by Divisions and on payment of a nominal membership fee.
Meetings: Annual (December).
Professional Activities: In 1986-87 the Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada supported the following research activities: 56 research grants for a total of $2.2 million. Services to people who have multiple sclerosis totalled $2.5 million.
Library: The Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada, at its national and division offices, carries an inventory of publications and audio visual materials for physicians, other health care professionals, people with MS and the general public. Most are available for a small fee or no charge.
Publications: MS/SP Canada, quarterly (sent automatically to all members). Editor: Deanna Groetzinger, c/o Society.

448. NOVA SCOTIAN INSTITUTE OF SCIENCE.
Macdonald Science Library, Dalhousie University, Halifax, N.S. B3H 4J3. Tel.: (902) 424-2331. President: Dr. C. Milligan, 40 Lyngby Ave., Dartmouth, N.S. B3A 3T8. Term expires May 1989. Secretary: Dr. S. Hargrave, Biological Sciences Branch, Fisheries & Oceans Canada, Bedford Institute, Dartmouth, N.S. B2Y 4A2. Term expires May 1989. Treasurer: Dr. D. Davies, Dept. of Chemistry, St. Mary's University, Halifax, N.S. B3H 3C3. Term expires May 1989.

History: The Institute was founded in 1862 as a result of experiences with the Halifax Mechanics Institute (1831 to 1869+) and the Halifax Literary and Scientific Society (1831-1862). It is thus one of the oldest learned societies in Canada. The Institute has always functioned as a meeting place for scientists and those interested in science. There have been periods when the roles of stimulating scientific research and providing scientific information were identified as prime tasks, but throughout the Institute's history there has always been an effort to bring science closer to the public. At the present time, the exploitation of natural resources, increasing population, urbanization and industrialization show a growing need to help people understand the relevance of science to their lives. The Nova Scotian Institute of Science has a unique part to play in that it provides scientists, technologists, educators and administrators with the chance to speak directly to the community.
Purpose: The object of the Society is the promotion of scientific research and education by means of communication among persons interested in science through the holding of meetings and the publication of proceedings, reviews and monographs.

Membership: 235. Membership is open to any person with a professional or amateur interest in science, research, or teaching. The three classes of membership are ordinary, honorary, and institutional.
Meetings: Annual (May), monthly meetings September to April.
Library: Part of the Mcdonald Science Library. 9,000 volumes with subject emphasis on Pure and Applied Science. The library is available to all members of the scientific community, inter-library loans, foreign journal exchange, on-line searching.
Publications: Proceedings of the N.S. Institute of Science, 4/year. Editor: Dr. Alan Taylor, National Research Council, 1411 Oxford St., Halifax, N.S. B3H 3Z1.

556. SOCIETE CANADIENNE DE LA SCLEROSE EN PLAQUES.
(In English see: MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS SOCIETY OF CANADA.)
250, rue Bloor e., Ste. 820, Toronto, Ont. M4W 3P9. Tel.: (416) 922-6065. Président: Alexander R. Aird. Le mandat se termine en décembre 1988. Secrétaire: Jessie H. Lang. Le mandat se termine en décembre 1988. Trésorier: A. Jeremy Arnold. Le mandat se termine en décembre 1988.

Historique: La première association de sclérose en plaques fut fondée aux Etats-Unis, en 1946, à la suite d'une formidable réponse à une petite annonce parue dans le "Times" de New York. Un groupe de bénévoles canadiens allait suivre cet exemple et constituer, en 1948, à Montréal, la Société canadienne de la sclérose en plaques. Elle s'attacha d'abord au financement de la recherche médicale sur la SP et, en 1949, octroyait sa première subvention. Depuis, la Société canadienne de la sclérose en plaques a affecté plus de 17 millions de dollars à ce secteur. Son bureau central est demeuré à Montréal jusqu'à son transfert à Toronto, au milieu des années 60.

Par la suite, l'établissement de divisions régionales a contribué à l'expansion de la Société. En 1963, s'ouvrait la division de l'Ontario, en 1968, celle des Prairies, en 1974, celles du Québec et de l'Atlantique suivies, en 1975, de la division de la Colombie-Britannique. Au début de 1980, naissaient, de la dissolution de la division des Prairies, trois nouvelles divisions provinciales, en Alberta, en Saskatchewan et au Manitoba. La Fédération internationale des associations de sclérose en plaques, dont la Société canadienne de la SP est un membre fondateur, a été formé en 1967 et regroupe aujourd'hui 30 associations indépendantes, en Europe, en Australie, en Afrique en Extrême-Orient, et sur le continent américain. Elle vise principalement à aiguiser l'intérêt des scientifiques pour la recherche sur la SP, à favoriser l'échange de données sur les soins et les services à apporter à la clientèle du monde entier et à sensibiliser d'avantage le grand public à la sclérose en plaques.
Objectifs: Stimuler et soutenir la recherche sur la sclérose en plaques et les maladies connexes et créer un fonds à partir de contributions publiques et privées; coordonner et promouvoir la recherche sur ces maladies, au pays et à l'étranger; colliger des statistiques sur ces dernières, leur prévalence et leur distribution géographique; agir à titre de centre de renseignements sur ces maladies; faire connaître leurs différents aspects au public et aux professionnels de la santé; venir en aide aux gens qui en sont atteints; défrayer, à même les fonds de la Société, le coût de tous ces programmes.
Membres: 25,000, appartenant à sept divisions - cotisation minime.
Réunions: Annuelle (décembre).
Activités professionnelles: En 1986-87 la Société canadienne de la sclérose en plaques accordait 56 subventions de recherche totalisant 2,2 $ millions de dollars et finançait un programme de services à la clientèle de 2,5 $ millions de dollars.
Bibliothèque: La Société canadienne de la sclérose en plaques maintient, au bureau central et dans les divisions, des stocks de publications et du matériel audio-visuel à l'intention des médecins, des professionnels de la santé, des personnes atteintes de SP et du grand public. La plupart sont offerts gratuitement ou moyennant une modique somme.
Publications: MS/SP Canada, bulletin trimestriel (distribué à tous les membres).
Rédactrice: Deanna Groetzinger, a/s Société.

Président: J.W. Clark, MCIC. Le mandat se termine en juin 1989. Secrétaire-exécutive: J. Moon.

Historique: Autrefois la Société canadienne pour la technologie chimique et biochimique, la Société canadienne de technologie chimique est le résultat des efforts de quelques personnes qui avaient l'impression que les intérêts des techniciens et technologistes en chimie et biochimie devaient être protégés. La Société a été constituée lors de la 54e Conférence de chimie du Canada de l'Institut de chimie du Canada à Halifax en 1971.
Objectif: Encourager l'adhérence de ses membres à un code d'éthique professionnelle; promouvoir la technologie chimique sur les plans théorique et pratique; répondre aux besoins de ses membres-souscripteurs.
Membres: 500. Membre honoraire: toute personne à qui la Société confère ce titre. Membre: 1) la personne qui détient un certificat de technologue en chimie ou en biochimie selon le programme de certification de la Société; 2) toute personne qui est membre d'une association de technologue provinciale ou d'un territoire canadien et qui répond aux exigences décrites à l'alinéa 1); 3) toute personne à qui le comité d'évaluation reconnait une équivalence de technologue telle que décrite à l'alinéa 1. Membre adjoint: toute personne qui participe à l'application de la technologie en chimie mais qui n'est pas éligible à devenir membre de la Société; toute membre de l'Institut de Chimie du Canada excepté les étudiants-membres, qui n'est pas en mesure de devenir membre de la Société. Membre étudiant: toute personne qui est étudiant(e), poursuivant un programme reconnu par la Société.
Réunion: Annuelle (été).
Activités professionnelles: Prix commémoratif

Bright: reconnaît la contribution faite par des technologistes à la communauté industrielle ou scientifique, ou les deux. Il est décerné à une personne qui participe aux activités et rapports importants de la Société, etc.
Publications: l'Actualité chimique canadienne, 10/année. Rédacteur: Margaret Nearing, a/s Société.

559. SOCIETE DES COMPTABLES EN MANAGEMENT DU CANADA.
(In English see: SOCIETY OF MANAGEMENT ACCOUNTANTS OF CANADA)
154, rue Main e., C.P. Box 176, Hamilton, Ont. L8N 3C3. Tél.: (416) 525-4100. Président: G.E.M. Cummings, National Sea Products, 1959, rue Upper Water, Halifax, N.S. Le mandat se termine en juillet 1989. Secrétaire: William E. Langdon, 577, ave. Harmony, Burlington, Ont. L7N 1X8. Mandat de durée indéterminée.

Historique: 1920 vit naître la Société des comptables en prix de revient du Canada. En 1941, les sociétés de l'Ontario et du Québec ont été incorporées, avec la responsabilité de former et de contrôler la compétence des candidats au titre r.i.a. Vers 1950, les autres provinces ont mis sur pied leurs propres sociétés et la Société nationale prit le nom de Société des comptables en administration industrielle et en prix de revient. En 1968, celle-ci devint la Société des comptables en administration industrielle pour refléter la plus grande diversité des activités de la Société. En 1978, elle adopta le nom de Société des comptables en management du Canada, témoignant mieux ainsi des buts et objectifs qu'elle s'était donnés. Les sociétés provinciales sont toutes filiales de la Société nationale et elles fonctionnent avec leurs propres sections dans le cadre des objectifs de la Société.
Objectifs: Promouvoir et étendre les connaissances et la compétence des membres en comptabilité, en administration et en management.
Membres: 18 500 membres certifiés; 20 000 étudiants. Conditions d'adhésion: exigences pour l'obtention du titre r.i.a. (Registered Industrial Accountant).
Réunions: Annuelle (juillet).
Activités: Séminaires d'un à trois jours sur le perfectionnement professionnel et la formation. Congrès national annuel qui porte sur les concepts les plus récents en comptabilité et en management.
Publications: CMA Magazine, 10/année. Rédacteur: J.M. Hewer. Research Studies and Management Accounting Guidelines.

560. SOCIETE D'ENERGIE SOLAIRE DU CANADA, INC.
(In English see: SOLAR ENERGY SOCIETY OF CANADA INC.)
3-15, rue York, Ottawa, Ont. K1N 5S7. Tél.: (613) 236-4594. Président: John McKay, a/s de la Société. Le mandat se termine en juin 1989. Directeur Exécutif: Natalie Gallimore, a/s de la Société. Mandat de durée indéterminée.

Historique: La Société de l'Energie Solaire du Canada (SESCI) est un organisme a but non lucratif incorporé en 1974. Ses membres sont des universitaires, des fabricants, des concepteurs, des architectes, des ingénieurs, des scientifiques, des fonctionnaires, des hommes politiques, des amateurs, et autres. Depuis 1979, la SESCI est admise comme représentant canadien à la Société de l'Energie Solaire Internationale.
Objectifs: Faciliter la collecte, la classification et le développement de toute l'information pertinente à l'accumulation et à l'utilisation de l'énergie solaire, diffuser cette information et agir à titre d'organisation coordonnatrice pour les réprésentants, les entreprises, les gouvernements et les universités et ce, afin d'évaluer objectivement l'utilisation de l'énergie solaire. "L'énergie solaire" comprend les manifestations d'énergie renouvelable reliées au flux solaire, telles que la biomasse, le vent, l'énergie marémotrice, etc.
Membres: 2 500 membres professionnels, 13 sections au Canada.
Activités profesionnelles: Prix d'excellence annuels pour certains projets d'énergie solaire; commission de technologie; séminaires; répertoires; activités de lobbying; brochures d'information sur l'énergie renouvelable.
Publications: Sol, bimensuelle. Rédacteur: Ruth McKlusky, a/s la Société. Annual Conference Proceedings, (uniquement en anglais).

566. SOCIETE NUCLEAIRE CANADIENNE.
(In English see: CANADIAN NUCLEAR SOCIETY)
111, rue Elizabeth, 11ème, Toronto, Ont. M5G 1P7. Tél.: (416) 977-7620. Télex: 06-23741. Président: Ken Talbot, Ontario Hydro, Pickering N.G.S., C.P. 160, Pickering, Ont. L1V 2R5. Le mandat se termine en juin 1989. Vice-président: Dr. Eva Rosinberg, Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., Whiteshell Nuclear Research, Pinawa, Man. ROE 1LO. Le mandat se termine en juin 1989. Secrétaire-trésorier: Dr. Gil Phillips, Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., Chalk River Nuclear Labs, Chalk River, Ont. K0J 1J0. Le mandat se termine en juin 1989.

Historique: La Société Nucléaire Canadienne est une organisation d'hommes et de femmes qui portent un intérêt professionnel à la science et la technologie nucléaires, pour qui de même la crise globale et croissante des ressources énergétiques représente une préocupation constante. La plupart des membres de la SNC sont des ingénieurs et des scientifiques qui contribuent activement à la solution de problèmes techniques reliés aux ressources, à la production et à l'utilisation de l'énergie nucléaire, alors que d'autres membres s'attachent à des applications nucléaires en dehors du domaine de l'énergie. Plusieurs membres s'occupent aussi des facteurs socio-économiques qui déterminent, en dernière analyse, l'évantail des options énergétiques placées à la disposition des sociétés futures. Les choix en cours affecteront en profondeur l'ordre économique et politique du monde en devenir et traceront la voie du développement à la condition humaine en toutes ses couches sociales.
Objectifs: Servir de forum pour l'échange de l'information sur l'énergie nucléaire entre les spécialistes de diverses disciplines, les membres de sociétés savantes et d'autres personnes. Tenir des réunions ayant pour objet la présentation, la discussion et la publication d'écrits scientifiques, techniques ou autres concernant l'énergie nucléaire. Organiser des sections qui fourniront un foyer d'accueil aux intérêts individuels ou régionaux des membres à travers le pays. S'engager dans des activités qui ont rapport aux objectifs de la SNC en particulier, de l'ANC en général. L'un des buts premiers de la Société est de favoriser la diffusion, soit au sein même de la SNC soit avec d'autres sociétés savantes, de l'information relative à la science et la technologie nucléaires. Durant la période critique des prochaines années, un autre rôle d'importance sera dévolu à la Société Nucléaire Canadienne: elle rendra ses membres à même d'influencer de façon constructive les décisions en matière d'énegie. Un concensus des opinions formulées par les spécialistes canadiens de la science et de la technologie nucléaire sera bien accueilli tant par les élus du peuple, à qui incombent les décisions, que par les citoyens eux-mêmes. La Société Nucléaire Canadienne s'efforcera d'assurer une écoute à ce témoignage.
Membres: Peut devenir membre de la Société Nucléaire Canadienne toute personne qui remplit les conditions définies par le Comité des admissions du Conseil. De façon générale, l'éligibilité sera déterminée en fonction de l'intérêt individuel et de la contribution potentielle du candidat au domaine de l'énergie nucléaire.
Réunions: Annuelle (juin), conférences, symposium des officiers (septembre).
Activités professionnelle: Organiser la Conférence annuelle de la Société Nucléaire Canadienne qui se tient conjointement avec la Réunion Internationale Annuelle de l'Association Nucléaire Canadienne; collaborer à l'organisation de la Conférence annuelle étudiante sur des sujets associés à l'énergie nucléaire; créer des groupes régionaux; créer des sections techniques spécialisées; organiser des séminaires sur des sujets d'actualité; éditer un bulletin de nouvelles; organiser des activités suggérées par les membres, editer un journal technique.
Publications: CNS Bulletin SNC, 6/année. Rédacteur: Jatin Nathwani, Ontario Hydro, 700 University Ave., Toronto, Ont. M5G 1X6. Comptes Rendus de la conférence annuelle et des symposia techniques. Nuclear Journal of Canada - Revue nucleaire du Canada, 4/année.

567. SOCIETE PHARMACOLOGIQUE DU CANADA.
(In English see: PHARMACOLOGICAL SOCIETY OF CANADA)
Président: Dr. G. Bellward, Div. of Pharmacology & Toxicology, Fac. of Pharmaceutical Sciences, University of British Columbia, 2194 Health Sciences Mall, Vancouver, B.C. V6T 1W5. Le mandat se termine en juin 1989. Secrétaire: Dr. M.C. Sutter, Dept. of Pharmacology & Therapeutics, University of British Columbia, Vancouver, B.C. V6T 1W5. Le mandat se termine en juin 1989. Vice-président: Dr. G. Triggle, Fac. of Medicine, Memorial University of St. John's, St. John's, Nfld. A1B 3V6. Le mandat se termine en juin 1989. Trésorier: Dr. R. Reiffenstein, Dept. of Pharmacology, University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alta. T6G 2H7. Le mandat se termine en juin 1989.

Historique: Etabli 1956. Membre enregistré de la Fédération canadienne des sociétés de biologie.
Objectifs: Promouvoir l'avancement de la science de la pharmacologie dans son sens le plus large.
Membres: 320. Conditions d'adhésion: toute personne qui a fait de la recherche et qui a publié des articles méritoires en pharmacologie dans son sens le plus large, ou engagée dans l'enseignement dans ce domaine, est éligible comme membre.
Réunions: Annuelle (juin).
Activités professionnelle: Le prix Upjohn de pharmacologie peut être accordé annuellement pour une contribution significative à l'avancement et à l'extension du savoir dans le domaine.

568. SOCIETE ROYALE DU CANADA.
(In English see: ROYAL SOCIETY OF CANADA)
3006-344, rue Wellington, Ottawa, Ont. K1A 0N4. Tél.: (613) 992-3468. Président: Dijby J. McLaren, Dépt. de Géologie, Université d'Ottawa, Ottawa, Ont. Le mandat se termine en juin 1990. Secrétaire: Jacques Légaré, Dépt. de démographie, Université de Montréal, C.P. 6126, Succ. A, Montréal, Qué. H3C 3J7. Le mandat se termine en juin 1989. Trésorier: D.A. Ramsay, Conseil national de recherches, Ottawa, Ont. K1A 0R6. Le mandat se termine en juin 1992.

Historique: Fondée en 1882 par le Gouverneur Général du Canada, le très honorable marquis de Lorne, elle a été constituée par loi du Parlement canadien en 1883. Elle comprend trois académies: Académie I - L'Académie des lettres et des sciences humaines de la Société royale du Canada; Academy II - Academy of Humanities and Social Sciences of the Royal Society of Canada; Academy/Académie III - Academy of Sciences of the Royal Society of Canada/Académie des sciences de la Société royale du Canada.
Objectifs: Une académie nationale qui a pour objet le développement du savoir et de la recherche dans les arts et les sciences. Elle admet par voie d'élection des auteurs distingués; elle attribue des médailles et des prix pour récompenser le haut savoir et la recherche dans les arts et les sciences; elle tient des réunions annuelles où l'on présente des communications traitant de tous les aspects du savoir et de la recherche, et qui comprennent habituellement un colloque sur un sujet apte à intéresser les trois académies de la Société; publie chaque année des Mémoires, des Délibérations et l'Annuaire ainsi que des Notes et Nouvelles deux fois par an; elle tient des colloques internationaux, nationaux et régionaux sur des sujets d'actualité importants, ordinairement de caractère interdisciplinaire; elle publie des comptes rendus de colloques d'intérêt général; elle entreprend divers projets d'ordre national et international visant à encourager le savoir et la recherche.
Membres: 1 199 membres (s.r.c.) qui sont élus membres. Conditions: doit être canadien ou avoir résidé au Canada pendant cinq ans et avoir publié des oeuvres importantes et des mémoires exceptionnels ou avoir rendu d'éminents services à la littérature ou la science.
Réunions: Annuelle.
Activités professionnelle: Colloques et réunions savantes; la médaille Flavelle, pour une contribution importante à la biologie ou pour un supplément significatif; la médaille Lorne Pierce, pour une oeuvre importante dans les domaines de la littérature de l'imagination ou de la critique; la médaille Tyrrell, pour une oeuvre éminente en histoire du Canada; la médaille Pierre Chauveau, pour une contribution importante aux humanités; la médaille Henry Marshall Tory, pour des recherches importantes dans les sciences physiques; la médaille Willet G. Miller, pour la recherche éminente dans toutes les branches des sciences de la terre; la médaille Innis-Gérin, pour un apport éminent aux sciences sociales; la médaille Thomas W. Eadie, pour une réalisation importante dans le domaine de l'ingénierie et des sciences appliquées; la médaille Jason A. Hannah, pour une publication importante dans le domaine de l'histoire de la médecine au Canada; le Prix Bancroft, en récompense de la publication de travaux, de l'enseignement et de la recherche en géologie et en géophysique; la médaille McLaughlin, pour la recherche dans le domaine des sciences médicales qui se caractérise par un haut niveau d'excellence; les médailles commémoratives Rutherford, une en chimie, une en physique, pour la recherche éminente dans toutes les branches de ces disciplines. Sir William Dawson pour l'apport éminent et durable à plus d'un domaine parmi ceux qui intéressent la S.R.C. ou dans un champ élargi qui dépasse les bornes habituelles de ses disciplines. John L. Synge, pour la recherche éminente dans toutes les branches des sciences mathématiques.
Bibliothèque: Environ 30 000 volumes dans tous les domaines du savoir, surtout dans les sciences naturelles, qui sont maintenant déposés à l'Institut canadien de l'information scientifique et technique (sciences) et à la Bibliothèque nationale (les humanités et les sciences sociales).
Publications: Les Délibérations et les Mémoires annuellement. Comptes rendus de colloques. Studia Varia. Publications spéciales. Directeur des publications: Prof. John M. Robson, Victoria College, Toronto, Ont.

576. SOCIETY OF MANAGEMENT ACCOUNTANTS OF CANADA.
(En français voir: SOCIETE DES COMPTABLES EN MANAGEMENT DU CANADA)
154 Main St. E., P.O. Box 176, Hamilton, Ont. L8N 3C3. Tel.: (416) 525-4100. President: G.E.M. Cummings, National Sea Products, 1959 Upper Water St., Halifax, N.S. Term expires July 1989. Secretary: William E. Langdon, 577 Harmony Ave., Burlington, Ont. L7N 1X8. Term indefinite.

History: The Society was incorporated under the name of the Canadian Society of Cost Accountants in 1920. In 1941 societies were incorporated in Ontario and Quebec with authority to conduct courses, set examinations and grant the R.I.A. designation. By 1950, similar societies were incorporated in all other provinces. At this point, the national society assumed the name used by all the provinces - the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants. In 1968, the "and cost" was deleted from the Society's name because it implied a restrictive sphere of influence. After affiliated societies were incorporated in the Yukon and Northwest Territories, the name was changed again in 1978 to The Society of Management Accounts of Canada" (SMAC). In 1985, the RIA designation was changed to CMA - Certified Management Accountant/Comptable en management accrédité. These changes more accurately reflect the realm of influence of the Society and the unique blend of the CMA's management and accounting skills within business, industry and government.

Purpose: To be pre-eminent in management accounting, to provide programs and services of value to the provincial/territorial Society organizations and the membership, and to forge a strong national identify and direction.
Membership: 18,500 Certified Members who have successfully completed the CMA syllabus, examinations and practical experience requirements. 20,000 Student Members enrolled in studies leading to the CMA designation.
Meetings: Annual (July).
Professional activities: Represents the profession in the national and international accounting communities; develops and maintains the CMA syllabus; develops uniform accreditation examinations; conducts research to advance the practice of management accounting; through further specific research is addressing the demand for improved methods of measuring management accountability and reporting responsibilities; issues Management Accounting Guidelines; publishes a professional journal; operates a comprehensive management accounting Resource Centre; sponsors an annual national professional conference; provides special support services to satisfy member needs.
Library: 10,000 volumes on Management Accounting and related fields. Open to members only.
Publications: CMA Magazine, 10/year. Editor: J.M. Hewer. c/o S.M.A.C. Research Studies and Management Accounting Guidelines.

577. SOCIETY OF OBSTETRICIANS AND GYNAECOLOGISTS OF CANADA.
